JAPAN, AMAZED, IS TO PROTEST SENATE ACTION

Senate Prepares to Quickly Pass Immigration Act, Excluding Japanese.

SENTIMENT IN CONGRESS OVERWHELMINGLY FOR IT

Ambassador Hanihara May Be Recalled Washington Thinks.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 15.—Its fighting spirit aroused, congress prepared today to call Japan's hand by passing the exclusion act which erects an impenetrable barrier to the future entrance of Japanese immigrants into the United States and possessions.

The temper of congress became so plain today that the recall of Masano Hanihara, the Japanese ambassador, looms as a possible sequel to the passage of the exclusion legislation.

The house already has acted by a vote of more than four to one in favor of excluding Japanese by statute.

The senate, angry and determined, will endorse the house's action by an even larger vote.

Even administration leaders such as Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania and others said Ambassador Hanihara's blunt threat of "grave consequences" in Japanese-American relations was a "challenge to the sovereignty of the United States that cannot be ignored."

In view of the size of the vote by which the senate is expected to pass the exclusion feature, it seemed doubtful today whether President Coolidge will be constrained to veto the measure. Congressional leaders said privately it would make but little difference if presidential disapproval was expressed that the Hanihara letter has so solidified sentiment in congress that passage over a veto might be expected.

On all sides today the letter of the Japanese ambassador warning Secretary Hughes of "grave consequences" was considered in the light of an "international blunder" and the recall of the ambassador, once the exclusion becomes effective by statute, is regarded as inevitable.

Senator Lodge frankly described Hanihara's letter as "improper."

"The question of immigration" he said, "is perhaps the greatest of sovereign rights. If a nation shall cease to say who shall come into the country it ceases to be a sovereign nation."

Members of the powerful senate foreign relations committee strongly backed up Lodge's contention. Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, said Hanihara's letter contained more than a "veiled threat—it is a very clear threat."

Not since the hectic days of war oratory has the senate heard such frank speeches dealing with a powerful and friendly nation. The letter of the Japanese ambassador was dealt with by a score of senators, and almost without exception it was denounced as "improper" "insulting" and as a "challenge to American sovereignty."

Tokio, April 15.—Japan will protest and call upon the United States to submit the matter to a joint commission or conference provided the senate passes the immigration bill calling for Japanese exclusion and President Coolidge approves it.

This was learned late this afternoon while officials were generally expressing confidence that passage of the measure was an impossibility. A statement of Japan's attitude was expected to be forthcoming shortly.

Tokio, April 15.—Amazement and unbelief were shown in every section of the foreign office today when extras were carried to officials, telling of action in the United States senate in passing the immigration bill.

One official said the situation was too grave for him to make a statement. Tokio newspapers this afternoon claimed the American question is occupying the entire attention of a prolonged cabinet session.

It was said a statement was being outlined by the cabinet to be issued late today by Premier Matsui.

It is generally admitted here that Ambassador Hanihara's note was expected to bring the matter to a head but the senate's action is stronger and quicker than was expected. It is believed probable that the foreign office now regrets its publicity because of the fear of inflaming the Japanese people throughout the empire.

No blame can be attached to Ambassador Hanihara in the matter as the contents of his note was known here weeks ago and approved. It is considered possible that the note was framed through a desire of certain sections of the Japanese government to secure a final decision on the immigration question.

"The first impression is that this action of the American congress merely represents an expression of anti-Japanism," said the Chugai Shogio. "On second consideration, however, it appears the American nation overestimates its own importance in the family of nations and thirdly we must say that if they accuse Ambassador Hanihara of lack of diplomacy, we feel his attitude fades into weakness in comparison to the irresponsibility of the American congress."

Other newspapers were most bitter in their comment, the Nichinichi saying:

"Ambassador Hanihara spoke the feeling of the entire Japanese nation. The dignity of this nation is at stake and it is useless now for anti-Japanese Americans to use Hanihara's protest to cover up their own anti-Japanism."

The extras announcing disapproval of the gentlemen's agreement by the United States senate brought the masses into closer touch with the anti-alien situation which the cabinet has been considering for two days. The news changed an air of confidence to one of pessimism, the public generally having believed the senate would reverse house action.

Fire Empties Sailors' Home

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 15.—Fire in the Seamen's Church Institute, 25 South street, forced a thousand sailors into the street today. Owing to the orderly manner in which the seamen vacated the 13 story building there were no casualties.

Starting in the cellar, the blaze spread to adjoining rooms and destroyed a large quantity of baggage. Firemen were getting control of the flames when an ammonia pipe broke in the cellar, the fumes driving them back into the street. The rescue squad arrived shortly afterward and repaired the leak.

Two fire boats, the John Purroy Mitchell and the Zophar Mills, stood by to aid the firemen.

Gehrig Goes Back.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 15.—After twice being denied waivers, the New York Yankees finally have succeeded in sending Lou Gehrig, recruit first baseman, out on option, it developed today. Gehrig goes back for another season with the Hartford Club of the Eastern League, where he earned the sobriquet of "Babe Ruth 2nd," because of his slugging last year.

Re-Wed After 25 Years.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Baltimore, April 15.—Divorced a quarter of a century ago, Harry Weatherman and Mrs. Emma A. Weatherman wedded again today. During 26 years Mrs. Weatherman had remained single, but her former husband had re-married, his second wife dying. Mrs. Weatherman is now the step-mother of her husband's four year old child.

Reds and Pirates.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cincinnati, April 15—Donahue and Morrison will probably be the opposing pitchers when the Reds and Pirates open the season here this afternoon. A record crowd was expected as every seat had been sold. The weather was cool and cloudy.

No New Indian Policy.

THREE GUILTY IN COUNTY COURT

Brown and Davis, Gun Toters, So Plead; Brown's Ailment Gains Clemency.

DONA SENT TO REFORMATORY

On Charge of Grand Larceny; Collins Paroled.

Four cases were disposed of this morning in county court when four prisoners entered pleas of guilty and three of them were sentenced by County Judge Joseph M. Fowler.

Williams Collins changed his plea of not guilty to guilty of the crime as charged in the indictment and District Attorney Traver explained to the court that the complaining witness, Mr. Peter, was inclined to be lenient with the defendant as restitution had been made. The imposition of sentence was postponed and he was paroled to report to the probation officer of the county once a month for a period of six months. Collins in answer to the usual questions stated that he had been convicted once before. His last place of residence was Poughkeepsie.

Frank Brown, colored, charged by the grand jury with possession of a revolver, entered a plea of guilty to the charge. Through his attorney, Floyd W. Powell, a plea for leniency was entered. Brown is suffering from an eye disease which needs immediate attention to save the sight. A certificate to that effect was presented to the court from Dr. Loughran, jail physician. Brown has been in jail for about four months. He hails from Texas. The court imposed a sentence of six months in the county jail but suspended that part of the sentence which remains to be served on condition that Brown take steps to have his eyes treated.

Jesse Davis, colored, also charged with carrying a gun, through his attorney, Thomas F. Coughlin, entered a plea of guilty to the crime as charged in the indictment. Davis was born in Virginia. The imposition of sentence was postponed until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Joseph Dona, indicted for grand larceny, second degree, through his attorney, John Sterley, changed his plea to guilty of the crime charged. A plea for leniency was entered by Mr. Sterley, who stated that Dona was supporting the family of his brother, who was killed in the Italian army during the war. Dona gave his last place of residence as Clintondale, where he was engaged in farming. The sentence of the court was that defendant be confined to the New York State Reformatory at Elmira until discharged by law.

The selection of a jury in the Gohl murder case was then resumed.

THAW MORAL PERVERT, SAYS OPPOSING COUNSEL.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 15.—At the opening of today's sessions of Harry K. Thaw's sanity plea trial before a judge and jury, Arthur G. Dickson, chief of defense counsel opposing the Pittsburgh millionaire's release from Kirkbride's Asylum, resumed the line of attack by which the defense hopes to prove Stanford White's slayer is a moral pervert whose release into society would be a menace.

In this connection it became known that the countering objective of Thaw's counsel will be to prove that moral perversion is no basis for insanity in the state of Pennsylvania.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 15.—Former Judge Stephen Stone, counsel for Harry Thaw in his divorce proceedings against Evelyn Nesbit in 1916, secured the complete record of the case from the local prothonotary yesterday and took it to Philadelphia, it was revealed here today.

"MICUM AGREEMENTS" ARE EXTENDED IN THE RUHR.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, April 15.—Premier Poincare informed his cabinet today that a group of German industrialists in the Ruhr have signed with the French and Belgians for prolongation of the "Micum agreements" under which German industries are pledged to continue steady production and deliveries.

The new agreements run until June 15. The ceremony took place at Dusseldorf, headquarters of the French army of occupation.

Badges For Court Officers.

Sheriff Wells has provided the court officers with badges so that the officers while serving on the courts may be distinguished from spectators in the court room. Frequently court officers who were serving for the first time were unknown to many of the county officials and when their services were needed there was difficulty in distinguishing the court officers from the spectators.

Dundee to Fight.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 15.—According to plans now in the course of fulfillment, Johnny Dundee will defend his junior light-weight title at the opening of the Polo Grounds outdoor boxing session, either on May 19 or May 23. His opponent will be selected from among Carl Duane, Bobby Garcia, Kid Kaplan, Sid Terris and Eddie Kidwagner.

IF IT ISN'T HENRY, IT WILL BE LIZZIE

Old Mr. Stork was seen hovering in the sky above Forsyth Park Monday with a bundle dangling from the end of his long bill. The bundle proved to be a kid and was presented to one of the Angora goats at the park zoo. The mother was a gift to the zoo from Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., which had been the recipient of three Angora goats from Adonai Lodge of Highland. It was said that the new addition to the zoo would be named Henry—probably in honor of the genial superintendent of the board of public works. If it is not that kind of a goat it will be named Lizzie in honor of the product made famous by the other Henry of Detroit.

Extra Jurors Are Needed

At noon today when court went into recess two jurors had been secured to sit in the case of The People vs. Charles W. Gohl, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder, second degree.

An order for 40 extra jurors was entered and before court adjourned for the noon recess the names were drawn from the county box.

Blanks for N. Y. Bonus April 21

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., April 15.—Adjutant General Westcott has announced that application blanks which all former service men must fill out for the state bonus will be received by the bonus commission about April 21. The blanks will be turned over to veteran organizations. There are three forms: One for the living soldier, one for the committee of an incompetent, and one for the relatives of the deceased soldier.

Litt Trial Is Set for June 2

The taking up of the trial of Mrs. Esther Litt of Brooklyn, one of the three defendants charged with the murder last August of seven-year-old Howard Rothenberg of Newark, N. J., at Windham, was set for June 2, by Justice Rosch in Supreme court at Catskill on Monday. When the case was moved for trial by District Attorney Coffin Mrs. Litt and Mrs. Charles Rothenberg, who is also charged with the murder, informed the court they had no funds to engage counsel. Judge Rosch assigned William D. Cunningham of Ellenville, Ulster county, as counsel for Mrs. Litt and Edward W. Lackey of Tannersville as counsel for Mrs. Rothhenberg. Bert Branaugh, the third defendant, will continue to be represented by Frank H. Osborn of Catskill. Frank W. Brooks of Kingston will assist District Attorney Coffin in the prosecution. The court directed the defendants who are out on bail in $35,000 each, to be in court on May 16, when a panel of jurors will be drawn to try one of the cases as the three have been granted separate trials.

Order Granted to Examine Ballots

Calvin E. Staples Gets Supreme Court Order to Examine Protested Ballots Cast in Marlborough Primary Election.

An order for the exaamination of ballots which were cast in the first election district of the town of Marlborough in the spring primary election on April first for the office of member of the Republican county committee and which were returned to the board of elections by the district election officers as having been protested, has been granted by Supreme Court Justice Charls E. Nichols on the application of Calvin E. Staples, who was one of the candidates for that office.

The contest for the office of member of the Republican county committee in the first district of Marlborough brought out a large vote, and the result as reported by the election board showed that George Halwick received 136 votes; Doyley S. Hutchins, 120 votes; Calvin E. Staples, 118 votes; William P. McConnell, 105 votes.

Nine ballots were protested and were therfore sealed by the election inspectors and returned to the board of elections as required by the election law.

Mr. Staples's application for an order to be permitted to examine the ballots was made to Judge Nichols pursuant to sections 123 and 333 of the election law, and Judge Nichcols directed that the examination take place at the offices of the board of elections on Wednesday afternoon, April 16, at two o'clock. Frank W. Brooks appeared for Mr. Staples.

HUGHES SOUNDS KEYNOTE TONIGHT

Will Voice Coolidge's Views and Outline Planks for Platform This Fall.

THE COUNTRY IS PROSPEROUS

Will Point to Tariff, Tax Cut and British Debt Settlement.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 15.—The first outline of the platform on which Calvin Coolidge expects to go before the country and ask to be returned to the White House will be given in New York tonight by Charles Evans Hughes.

The secretary will be the keynote orator at the Republican state convention there. He will deliver a lengthy prepared address, reviewing the three years of Republican administration in Washington and while it is essentially Mr. Hughes's speech it also bears the cryptic legend "O. K. C. C." The president and his secretary of state have had several conferences over the address and Mr. Coolidge has given it his entire approval.

Republican leaders said today there would be no "embarrassments" following the Hughes speech similar to that which followed the keynoting of Senator Pepper, Republican of Pennsylvania, before the Maine Republican convention two weeks ago. Pepper stirred up a hornet's nest in Republican ranks by frankly characterizing the appointment of Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general by the late President Harding as "a grave error in judgment." Daugherty replied to that speech with a blistering statement in which he declared such keynoting was a good way to disrupt the party. Other friends of the late president also took umbrage and subsequently the White House denied that Pepper's keynote efforts had the O. K. of President Coolidge.

Mr. Hughes, it is understood, will not deal with specific instances or names in his handling of the reparation position toward the "scandals of Washington" but will content himself with an explanation and commendation of the measures taken by President Coolidge to protect the public interest and insure honesty in government.

Principal stress will be laid, it is understood, upon the achievements of the Republican party since it came into power again on March 4, 1921—the tariff, the impending tax reduction, the arms conference, the British debt settlement and the stability of America's foreign relations both in the western hemisphere and in Europe.

This, at least, represents what the Coolidge managers believe should be the principal planks in the platform which the Republican convention at Cleveland will write and adopt. The present business prosperity, as compared with the depression of three years ago, constitutes a political asset that Republican leaders are insistent should be utilized to the fullest extent.

President Coolidge himself will do some keynoting next week when he goes to New York for the second speech he had made away from Washington since his inauguration.

PERSHING A DAUGHTER OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 15.—General John J. Pershing is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Confronted today with this declaration from the general himself, national officers of the society, which is holding its thirty-third continental congress here were searching their records to find out how it happened.

In an address before the Daughters, Pershing said he was invited to join about four years ago by the unanimous vote of a chapter which he did not name and that he immediately became a life member with all the rights and privileges of anyone else.

Kills Husband.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Winnipeg, April 14.—Enraged by her husband's abusiveness, Mrs. Kate Kadeniuk of Teulon, Man., crushed his skull with an axe while he slept, provincial police declared today. Police said Mrs. Kadeniuk told them her husband had threatened to kill her and her four children and the night she killed him had abused her because she refused to go with him to steal grain.

Democrats Pick Their "Big 8"

Smith Not One of Them, He Declining —Copeland and Miss Marbury Head Delegates.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, April 15.—After Governor Smith had positively declined to be one of the eight New York state delegates at large to the Democratic national convention, the following were selected by the political leaders just prior to the opening of the state convention this afternoon as members of the "big eight."

United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, New York; Franklin D. Roosevelt, Hyde Park, Dutchess county; William H. Kelley, Democratic leader of Onondaga county; Dr. Myer Jacobstein, Rochester; Miss Elizabeth Marbury, New York; Mrs. Daniel O'Day, Rye, Westchester county; Mrs. William H. Good, Brooklyn and Mrs. George W. Pfohl, Buffalo.

The following were chosen as alternates:

Mrs. Elizabeth V. Golbert, Albany; Mrs. Dorothea Courten, Queens county; Miss Harriet May Mills, of Syracuse and Mrs. Mary Nicoll of Elmira.

The four men selected as alternates at large were: Edward Reigelman, Borough president of Brooklyn; William F. Grell, of Manhattan, former sheriff of New York; Lt. Governor George R. Lunn of Schenectady and William H. Fitzpatrick, Democratic leader of Erie.

Herbert C. Pell of New York, was re-elected state chairman at the meeting of the state committee. Robert J. Powers of Binghamton was re-elected secretary and Edward F. Perkins of Poughkeepsie, was re-elected treasurer.

10,000 Miners Told to Strike

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Central City, Ky., April 15.—Ten thousand members of District 23, United Mine Workers of America, comprising nearly all of western Kentucky's bituminous coal mines, today received strike notices effective at midnight tonight from Lonnie Jackson, president of the organization.

This action, taken after the failure of weeks of negotiation looking to a renewal of present scales in accordance with the Jacksonville conference, has the support of the miners' national organization and brings the total of Kentucky's idle miners to 15,000 as a lockout has been in effect in eastern Kentucky coal fields for some time.

Mannington Defies Senate

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 15.—Howard Mannington, friend and intimate of the late President Harding and former Attorney General Daugherty, today defied the Wheeler-Brookhart committee to make him testify in the investigations of the department of justice.

Mannington's lawyers made a dramatic appearance before the committee this afternoon and announced that their client would not appear and preferred to fight contempt charges rather than submit to questioning.

WOOLSEY FARM HOUSE BURNED

Old Landmark on Hurley Road Destroyed in Early Morning Hours.

FIREMEN LOOK ON HELPLESS

Road Too Soft For City's Pumper to Reach the Creek Water.

Fire which started in the kitchen of the John P. Woolsey farm house on the Hurley road, about midway between Kingston and Hurley, spread with such rapidity about 4:30 o'clock this morning that the entire house was destroyed and all its contents with the exception of a piano, some sheet music and a small dresser.

The fire was discovered about 4:20 o'clock and one of the members of the household at once telephoned to the central fire station, asking whether help could not be sent immediately, and explaining that the fire was in the kitchen and probably could be extinguished with chemical extinguishers.

The motor pumper was despatched to the Woolsey house in charge of Deputy Fire Chief Murphy, and although no time was lost in reaching the house, the fire had spread so rapidly that neither members of the family nor neighbors were able to save anything except the articles mentioned. The fire was beyond control. The road leading through the soft clay bank to Esopus creek, a considerable distance away, was extremely soft. Preparations were made to take the pumper down the road over planks in case the wind should shift the blaze toward the large barns, but the flames and sparks were blown in the opposite direction. The fire had gained such headway that the firemen were unable to render any assistance but they remained until danger of further spread of the flames was past.

The Woolsey house had been one of the landmarks on the Hurley road for many years. The first story was of stone and the upper story, of later construction, was of frame. It was occupied by Mr. Woolsey and his family.

MAC DONALD PRAISED FOR HIS PLAIN SPEECH.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 15.—Influential newspapers today praised Premier Ramsay MacDonald's speech at the opening of the Anglo-Russian treaty conference for its frankness and sincerity, warning that there must be plain dealing during the negotiations.

At the same time wide prominence was given to the Tiflis speech of Leon Trotzky, Soviet commissar of war, in which he accused the British Laborite cabinet of lacking principle.

Five Laborite leaders—A. A. Purcell, Ben Turner, R. C. Walhead, George Lansbury and Robert Williams—issued a manifesto replying to the British bankers' statement upon Russian credit.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

RED-EYED VIREO

The Red Eyed Vireo was dressed in his gray suit with black trimmings. Above his reddish eyes there were white stripes.

He was singing and warbling and making a great deal of noise.

"The Waxwing family," he said, "are so polite. They dress beautifully with their soft grayish-brownish suits with the little wax touches of decorations on their wing tips."

Up Goes the Crest.

The touch of wax on the tip of the tail.

"But they don't make much noise. And they're so polite to each other, passing each other bugs, and having such good manners.

"They bow and make such a fuss and when anything surprises them, instead of making a noise up goes the crest upon their heads.

"They don't raise their voices and even the great excitement of a cherry orchard which they dearly love does not make them noisy in their joy.

"They are very sociable and friendly and such quantities of them meet and have dinner parties.

"But their voices are so quiet that it makes me feel like a great, boisterous fellow."

"I wouldn't like it if you had a low voice," said Mrs. Red Eyed Vireo. "And every one thinks your voice is beautiful and your songs exquisite."

"True enough," said Mr. Red Eyed Vireo, "but in the summer time they get tired of my singing so much.

"In the spring they say:

"Oh, do listen to that dear little red-eyed vireo.

"But in the summer they say:

"Did you ever know a bird make such a noise as that red-eyed vireo? He is singing from morning until night and you can hardly hear the others—his voice is so much louder.'

"Sometimes I wish I had a nice little low voice such as Mrs. Dove's husband has. He waits on her and feeds her and his actions seem doubly devoted and beautiful because he bills and coos so prettily.

"But then—it is true—in the spring every one is so glad to hear me.

"And it is spring now. It is spring now."

So excited did Mr. Red-Eyed Vireo become about that that he sang a little song to Mrs. Red-Eyed Vireo, and this was the song:

Oh oh, oh,
The spring is here I know,
Warble warble warble,
The spring is here, I know.

Dear, dear, dear,
The spring is surely here,
Warble, warble, warble,
The spring is surely here.

Oh me, oh my, oh me,
It certainly fills me with glee,
Warble, warble, warble,
It certainly fills me with glee.

The wood duck puts on airs
As food with his mate he shares,
Warble, warble, warble,
As food with his mate he shares.

We love the woods, we do,
And along the roadside too,
Warble warble, warble,
And along the roadside too.

I love to sing, it's true,
Songs both old and new,
Warble, warble, warble,
Songs both old and new.

He Waits on Her.

And, as it was springtime, people heard Mr. Red-Eyed Vireo and said: "Oh, do listen to that dear little vireo and his sweet voice."

A Sinner That Repented

A school presided over by a very harsh and bad-tempered teacher had a visit one afternoon from the bishop of the diocese. The bishop called before him a white-faced urchin who was very much cowed and depressed by punishment he had received that morning. "My boy," said the bishop, "who made this great and glorious earth of ours, and set the sun, moon and stars in the wonderful firmament?" The boy began to blubber. "I did," he said, "but I won't do it again."—Western Christian Advocate.

Followed Him Home

Little Harry wanted a dog. He had many arguments with his mother on the subject. He was sent to a nearby grocery. He was gone so long that his mother became anxious. Stepping to a window, she saw Harry down the street manfully pulling at a rope, the other end of which was tied around the neck of a small dog. The pup was resisting every step.

Presently Harry triumphantly entered the room. "Mother," he cried, "won't you let me keep this little dog? It followed me home."

WHAT TO EAT

To practice economy to serve variety and to balance the daily food, is the office of the thoughtful housewife and it means study and careful planning.

Fish Soup.—Cover the skin and bones of several fish using fresh cod, haddock, flounder, lake trout or fresh water fish found in the locality, with cold water add one small carrot cut fine, half cupful of celery leaves, three sprigs of parsley finely minced and cooked in two tablespoonfuls of fat; let simmer closely covered for half an hour. Strain off the liquid and to a quart of the soup or broth add one third of a cupful of minute tapioca cooked in a pint of milk until transparent, add a teaspoonful or more of salt, one-third of a teaspoonful of paprika, one cupful of cream and one half pound of fresh raw fish cut into half-inch cubes. Let cook over boiling water ten minutes and serve with olives. Be sure the fish is properly cooked before serving.

Chocolate Loaf Cake.—Take one cupful of sugar and the same of sour milk, one teaspoonful each of soda and salt, two cupfuls of flour, two squares of melted chocolate, one well-beaten egg and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat well and bake in a loaf forty minutes. With less flour, baked in layers, and put together with orange filling it makes a delicious cake, topped with a fudge frosting. For a simple filling use a plain boiled frosting.

Nut Mince Pie.—Mix together in the order given the following: One-half cupful of chopped walnut meats, one-half cupful each of seeded raisins, chopped apple and dark corn sirup; one-quarter of a cupful each of cider vinegar, fruit juice of any kind, molasses, one-half teaspoonful each of allspice and cloves, one teaspoonful each of salt and cinnamon. Add enough crushed crackers to make of the right consistency and fill a pastry-lined plate. Cover with another crust and bake. This makes a large pie.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

FRANCE HONORS HER FIRST PRESIDENT.

Frenchmen today will honor the memory of Louis Adolphe Thiers considered the greatest, as he was the first, of the presidents of the Third Republic. In Marseilles, the city of his birth, and in Paris, and other cities of France, the 127th anniversary of the birth of Thiers will be celebrated today with great enthusiasm, for it is he who is lauded as the liberator of the territory.

Thiers was born on April 16, 1797. As a young man he became an ardent supporter of the Bourbon cause, and helped place Louis Phillipe on the throne, holding various important posts under his regime.

He was the leader of French National affairs when the second Empire fell after the disastrous war of 1870-71. He became provisional president of the Third Republic and during the years of reconstruction his genius was of inestimable value to France. He died in 1877 at the age of eighty (80) years.

BIRTHDAY OF THE MANHATTAN COCKTAIL.

Who invented the cocktail? This topic has long been a subject of controversy among the chroniclers of Boozology, but all evidence points to John Telby Henderson as the inventor. He was a native son of South Carolina. Seventy-two years ago today at the old Palo Alto Hotel at Bladensburg, Md., Henderson is said to have mixed the first cocktails and they were swallowed with great relish by Col. Maglone, U. S. A. Repr. Mattingly, of Georgia, Suh' and several other gentlemen congregated at the Palo Alto bar. This old hostelry was then a place of refreshment for duelling parties, among whom the cocktails became popular and spread throughout the United States and Canada, finally making their way into Europe where the Americans would occasionally find the "oasis" where "The American Drink" was served.

"THE QUEEN OF SPAIN HAS NO LEGS" SAYING.

"The Queen of Spain Has No Legs," is a familiar saying not only in Spain but in other parts of Europe, and to some extent in America. It dates back to the marriage of Philip the Third. "The Pious" and Margaret of Austria which was celebrated 325 years ago today.

The authorities of a certain town famed for its silk stocking manufactures sent the bride a present of a pair of silk stockings as a wedding gift. This notion on the part of the well-meaning population of the town outraged the king, who was noted for his extreme modesty. So shocked was he that he returned the gift and informed the delegation that he had come to wait upon him with the gift, and express their loyalty to him as well as to his queen, that "The Queen of Spain Has No Legs."

Tiny Tuck Trimmings Mark Slim Dress Styles

Skirts are decidedly short and very narrow, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune. In crepe de chine dresses tiny tucks are frequently used as a trimming in band form or in wide panels running the entire length of the dress, but these are stitched down and do not give any added fullness to the skirt. In tailored suit skirts the same idea is carried out. The tucks, varying in width from one-quarter of an inch to two inches, are stitched their entire length, thus making the skirt very narrow.

There is no change in the neckline—models show either the bateau-form or round outline. Most of the little morning dresses have small, round organdie collar and turn-back cuffs. Sometimes these sets are made of two colors, red and ecru embroidered in ecru, yellow and white embroidered in white or in the color bound in white, or vice versa. Usually they are the only note of color appearing on black or navy blue serge, rep or alpaca dresses. In evening dresses the round or bateau neckline prevails. In the case of the former it is cut deeper than those of the day dresses. A few models show very decided backs with the bateau outline in front—dresses of this character are cut very low under the arms.

Lavish Fur Trimmings Used on Rich Materials

There has been little change in the silhouette of the separate coats, which remains straight and depends upon the variety of its trimming, material and detail to counteract the rigidity of its severe outline.

The models of Gabrielle Chanel, while straight in line, are loose, especially at the back, and are without fastening, being held in place by the wearer. Exceptions are the coats that show the front in circular cut. Of these the back is straight and scant and all the movement is in the front. The circular portion is set onto the bodice of the coat at a low waistline.

Several of the evening coats are trimmed with fur—one very beautiful model of this character is developed in yellow-beige artificial satin. The back is formed by a panel the width and length of the coat, which, at a low waistline, is slightly bloused. The fur bands on the panel, the collar and the cuffs are fox fur dyed to exactly match the color of the satin.

Brief Fashion Notes for Women Who Care

Heels not only corrugate today. They corrugate in intricate patterns. One pair imitates, in brilliants, a motif from colonial.

Spotted fur is being used in noticeable quantities on spring frocks and wraps. Not all of it is real leopard though bits of this are highly fashionable.

Good news for the lady who hates to darn. You may have your stockings painted on your limbs today and they are said not to wash off except in water.

Monkey hair, pretty well crowded out by the season's novelties, nevertheless persists. Its latest use is as a barbaric sort of edging for pumps of gray suede.

Red is definitely a spring color. It may range from scarlet to brick, from fuchsia to American Beauty. It may make up the whole costume or be used in deft inlays or appliques.

The hem line, settled and unsettled a dozen times, still remains pretty much go-as-you-please for evening frocks. Some of these in Egyptian fashion, go up in the center of the front.

Smith's Boom Being Launched

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., April 15.—Governor Alfred E. Smith's boom for the Democratic nomination for president was launched here today at the Democratic state spring convention.

The selection of eight delegates and eight alternates to the national convention in New York city in June was only a minor incident of the convention.

Political leaders admitted that the convention, which officially opens at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at Harmanus Bleecker Hall, would be turned into a "love feast" for Governor Smith.

At a dinner of the women delegates last night, Governor Smith, amid great applause, was hailed as "our next president." Every mention of the governor's name brought cheers.

The keynote speech of the convention, which will be made by former Judge D-Cady Herrick of Albany, as temporary chairman, will lead up to the ovation for Governor Smith. While Judge Herrick is not expected to mention the governor's name, he will refer to him in such a way that it will offer an opportunity for the 800 delegates to start an ovation for the state's chief executive.

The governor is to address the convention on "party responsibility." He will take the Republican assembly to task for defeating virtually all of the important recommendations which he made to the legislature. He also will briefly touch on national issues.

Friends of the governor said they would not be surprised if the demonstration at the convention hall lasted for ten or fifteen minutes.

Before the convention opens it will have been decided by the governor and the leaders whether the former should go to the national convention as one of the "big eight." This question was not settled at a series of conferences which began early last night and lasted until the early hours of this morning.

The governor, it is said, hesitates about being one of the "big eight." Many of the leaders, however, believe he should go to the national convention as a delegate and they are doing their best to have him change his mind.

The "big eight" will be composed of four men and four women. The names of three men already have been agreed upon, it was said early today. They are United States Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York; William H. Kelley, Democratic leader of Onondaga county, and Franklin D. Roosevelt of Hyde Park, Dutchess county. The fourth place is being kept open until the last minute in the hope that the governor will consent to be a delegate.

Just as the leaders went into conference at the Ten Eyck Hotel this morning to settle the question of delegates, word was received from Governor Smith definitely declining to be a member of the "big eight." Friends of the governor declared that after giving the matter serious consideration he came to the conclusion it would be best not to attend the national convention in an official capacity.

Two of the four women of the "big eight" will be Miss Elizabeth Marbury of New York and Mrs William H. Good of Brooklyn, it was said. The two other women will be from up-state and it is expected that Mrs. Elizabeth V. Colbert of Albany will be one of them. Miss Harriet May Mills of Syracuse or Mrs George W. Pfohl of Buffalo, may be the fourth.

Easter Services at Zion Church.

The week's evangelistic praise service begun on Sunday evening at the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church was well attended on Monday evening. The pastor gave a brief talk on "Fifty-Fifty Religion." He declared that there will be many people in hell blaming the preacher for not preaching enough truth to them, to save them. Truth while it will stir up the indignation of a man is the only medicine that will help to save him; that will hit the sore spot and hit it hard. The United States needs a revival from the White House down into the trenches, he said. The meeting closed with an altar service. The pastor will also speak this evening.

WITHIN HOLLERIN' DISTANCE

The Ozark mountain folks of Missouri have their own definitions of success. You must if you would get even "within hollerin' distance," they hold, have a backbone that will teach your wishbone its place. Alice Curtice Moyer-Wing, Ozarkian, and proud of it, ascribes all her victories to having a real Ozark backbone.

Her ultimate goal? It's to sit on the President's cabinet. "All things are possible and every new day brings its opportunities," says Mrs. Wing. "Many persons from my district are urging me to run for congress in 1924. Maybe I'll do it." How come—as the Southerners say—these ultra-conservative Missourians to be suggesting congress to a woman?

It's a long story, at least three generations long. Grandfather gave up prosperity, and finally home for a concentration camp, in order to be an abolitionist in slave territory. Father and mother pioneered in an Ozark homestead. Mr. Curtice had to teach small Alice, for the county seat that is even now in a county without a railroad, offered little education save in primitive living.

A brief stretch of happy married life, and the young mother was widowed. Stenography gave her an opportunity to develop into an expert business correspondent, by 'keeping in,' learning all details of the business. 'It would have been the most veritable drudgery—that 15 years of side-tracking from the things I most wished to do,' she acknowledges, 'had it not been for my children that I was doing it. When the little ones were asleep and I had sewed on all the buttons and darned all the little stockings, I had an article or a story always at hand to work on, for which once in a while I received actual money.

"When my boy and girl grew up, I came to a point where I could choose. I became suffrage editor for newspapers and magazines—for pay. Then illness in my family drove me back to the Ozarks among the people of the hills. My stories of this campaign grew into a six years' series of Ozark character stories. Prior to the 1920 election, I made more than 300 political speeches, again in my hill country. I was one of the first two women in Missouri elected delegate at large to a national convention, and one of the first few in the United States.

"Governor Hyde appointed me head of the state industrial inspection department in 1921. It was the first instance in the United States in which a woman was made a member of a governor's cabinet. And I am looking good, if I do say it, who shouldn't. My sympathies for people who work for a living came to me as first-hand experience."

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 15, 1924.

No one will deny that President Coolidge is growing in the respect of the people every day. The reason is, and it is becoming more and more plain, he did not allow noise, bluster and veiled threats to disturb him a particle. He took it into his mind that he would act right at the right time and not be goaded by any person or group of persons into acting a minute before he thought it was right to act. As to his nomination and election, there is no doubt whatever.

GOOD AND SUFFICIENT REASONS

Nobody questions that Governor Smith is a plausible talker, or, as some would say, a good salesman, but because he recommends something that in itself does not determine that he is infallible or that he can not make a mistake. He can make a poor deduction and is subject to the errors of any normal human being. No one, no matter who he is or where he is, can lay claim to one hundred per cent. Perfect people are not to be found today any more than they ever were and a title or a public office does not alter the fact.

That the governor will prate about the way his recommendations were blocked in the Republican Assembly is certain. That he will try to show the people he was working solely in their interest and was opposed by Republicans is beyond doubt. That he will make any lasting impression, however, is much different. There was a time when the governor, due to a wave of popularity, emotion, resentment or something else, could submit a proposition and almost have it accepted without further consideration. Not so any more. Too many have come to realize that it is a rare incident when Governor Smith does anything without political incentives, the incentives being Tammany made.

Think this over: The governor urges a four year term for governor but he wants the gubernatorial and presidential elections in different years. Why does he object to the same year? Because, if general opinion is anywhere near correct, Governor Smith sees where it would be to the political advantage of Tammany to have a governor elected at one time and the president another, the big Republican vote, the so-called farmer vote, be it remembered, coming out almost invariably in presidential years but not in years when only a governor is to be elected. Plainly enough the governor wants to avoid that large Republican decision that comes when a president is to be elected.

The governor's purpose is so obviously political there is no reason in the world why Republican legislators should aid a Tammany man, and Governor Smith is a Tammany man, to put over something Tammany wants for the benefit of Tammany and the Democratic party—more so, however, for Tammany. It would have been the height of political folly for the Republicans to work with Governor Smith in the interest of Tammany in this proposal, and that the four year term was beaten by Republicans was for good and sufficient reasons.

A NEEDED AMENDMENT.

The second passage of the Norris resolution by the Senate recently, this time by sixteen more votes than the required two-thirds majority, means an end of a long anomaly in our polity, provided the resolution is passed by the House, as it doubtless will be ultimately, for in these times the proposed change can hardly fail of public support. Senator Norris's joint resolution proposes an amendment to the Constitution fixing the beginning and ending of the terms of the President and Vice President in office when it takes effect, on noon on the third Monday in January; of the terms of Senators and Representatives then in office at noon of the first Monday in January of the year in which these terms would have ended under the present arrangement; and the meeting of the new Congress on the first Monday in January unless they appoint a different day.

The existing arrangement originated in that far-off time when Congressmen travelled slowly to Washington over great distances on horseback or by stage coach. It harks back to a period when Senators were elected by Legislatures most of which did not meet until after the beginning of the new year, very often the election of Senators being impracticable until February or March, while now they are chosen at the same election wherein Representatives are chosen. Moreover, most of the legislatures now meet somewhere about the first of January. Unless convened in extraordinary session, Congress does not assemble until thirteen months after the election of its members. Obviously there is now no good reason why the going into effect of "the will of the people" should be so long delayed.

STIFF JOINTS.

I am sometimes asked if rubbing on liniments or applying wintergreen oil or liniments, is good treatment for rheumatism.

I believe that in old cases of joint trouble which is popularly called rheumatism, liniments often ease the pain and are therefore of help.

But the trouble is that you often are satisfied just to rub on something to relieve the pain, and don't look for the cause of the trouble. This pain or inflammation in the joints has always a cause, and the sensible thing to do is to look for it.

It is sometimes a long search. Teeth, tonsils, intestines, eating too much meat without exercise anything that makes the blood impure and allows it to carry material to the joints and injure the lining.

And so your first idea should be to locate the cause, and stop the manufacture of these products.

This does not fix up the stiff joint immediately, because often considerable damage has already been done to the joint.

Many of the returned soldiers brought back stiffened joints due to infection from teeth, tonsils, and other parts of the body, where the exposure to dampness and cold gave these products a chance to get in their deadly work about the joints.

Accordingly every hospital was equipped with baking ovens, and heating devices of all kinds, and the stiffened joint was baked for twenty minutes to half an hour at a time.

While still hot, massage and manipulation was given, and a real loosening up of the joint was attained by these patient efforts. And so if you have had an attack of rheumatism that has left you with stiff joints, don't accept the condition and be satisfied.

Get busy with the heat and massage.

Remember however, that if you have repeated attacks try and find out what is causing them.

The heat and massage is to prevent stiffness, not to remove the cause.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY CONVENTION IN SEPTEMBER

Archbishop Michael J. Curley, of the Baltimore Archdiocese, officially invites the Holy Name men of the United States to attend the annual convention and rally of the Holy Name Society, to be held in Washington, next September.

The invitation was addressed to the Very Reverend Michael J. Ripple, O. P. P. G., national director of the society. It read in part:

"In connection with the coming national convention of the Holy Name Society of the United States, to be held in Washington, September 18th to 21st, I would be glad if you would make it known to the Holy Name Societies of the country that I extend to them a sincere invitation to come to the capitol city of the nation. And you can say for me that no body of men ever received a more warm hearted welcome than the Holy Name men will receive when they come to celebrate the 650th anniversary of the founding of the Holy Name Society."

Washington is situated in the archdiocese of Baltimore.

What Gift Like a Diamond

After all, there's nothing in jewels or jewelry that quite equals the diamond as a gift.

To the one you love best, a diamond for Easter is the one wonderful gift.

In an advertisement we cannot tell you much about such stones. No two are just alike. We have them in every form of setting, and if we do not have the setting you want, we will get it.

As a gift that will last, nothing equals the diamond. Other jewels may come and go in their vogue, but the diamond never goes.

Consider the value you may secure in a stone of excellent size set in a hand carved white gold mounting priced at $125.00.

We can give you a ring with a clear stone for less than that, or if you want to pay more, we will give you the same exceptional value that we give at other prices.

In buying a diamond from us you know you are getting full value and a perfectly reliable stone.

CITY TREASURER'S OFFICE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that I have received the warrant for collection of the special assessment of 75 per cent of the expense incurred in the construction of a Sanitary Sewer in Hemlock Avenue and Tubby Street, commencing at a point 952 feet from the center of Hemlock Avenue and Tubby Street, thence running through Tubby Street and Hemlock Avenue to a connection with the existing sewer in Hemlock Avenue.

The same has been left with me for collection at my office in the City Hall, in said City; that for thirty days from the date of this notice the said assessment may be paid without additional fees or charges, and that for the twenty succeeding days two per centum additional will be collected.

If any of the said special assessment shall remain unpaid at the time last mentioned, I shall give a written or printed notice to the person or persons against whom such assessment stands charged, requiring them to pay such unpaid assessment to me at my office within thirty days thereafter, with five per centum fees thereon and one dollar for such notice as required by the City Charter.

Dated at the Treasurer's Office, City of Kingston, N. Y., April 5, 1924.

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, COUNTY OF ULSTER.—[illegible] and Dolly S. Jocelyn, [illegible] offs, against Alexander S. [illegible] Helen Lebovitz, his wife, [illegible] Alexander Hegedus and Ethel [illegible] his wife, Austin, Nichols & Co., [illegible] and Metropolitan Tobacco Co., [illegible]

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster, State of New York, in the above entitled action, bearing date the 12th day of March, 1924, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the County Court House in the City of Kingston, in said County of Ulster, on the 2nd day of May, 1924, at one o'clock, (Eastern Standard time) in the afternoon of that day, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that Tract or Parcel of Land, situate in the Town of Shandaken, County of Ulster and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows: Viz:

Beginning at the Northwest corner of lands of Dolly S Jocelyn, wife of George E. Jocelyn, Boarding House, and runs thence along the Dryer Hollow Road, three chains and fifteen links to the center of the Grave Yard Wall; thence three (3) chains and twenty-one links in a Southerly direction to the line of Edgar Haynes; thence four chains and twenty-one links in an Easterly direction to the lands of the aforesaid Dolly S. Jocelyn; thence in a Northerly direction three chains to the place of beginning, being a portion of the same lands and premises formerly owned by said Edgar Haynes and purchased from said Edgar Haynes by George E. Jocelyn.

Also all that certain piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being at Oliverea, in the Town of Shandaken, Ulster County and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows, viz: Being a strip of land sixteen and one-half (16½) feet in width and running thence South across the lot formerly of Bilchy or Jersey Rosekrans, now Dolly S. Jocelyn, to the lands of formerly Andrus Cole, now Edgar Haynes, two hundred and fifty (250) feet more or less and fully described as follows, Viz:

Beginning on the line of the Dryer Hollow Road near a Maple tree standing on the line along the road and lot, thence running in a Southerly direction two hundred and fifty (250) feet more or less to the line of lands of Edgar Haynes; thence in a Westerly direction sixteen and one-half (16½) feet to lands of Dolly S. Jocelyn; thence along lands of said Dolly S. Jocelyn two hundred and fifty (250) feet more or less in a Northerly direction to the Dryer Hollow Road; thence along said Dryer Hollow Road sixteen and one-half (16½) feet to the place of beginning.

Also all that certain piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Great Lot No. 5 in the Hardenburgh Patent, in Big Indian Hollow, in the Town, County and State aforesaid, and bounded as follows, Viz:

Beginning at a hemlock fence post on the Southerly side of the highway and running thence in a Southerly course twelve and one-half feet from the west side of the milk-room against the dwelling house now on said premises to a hemlock stump near a brook one hundred and seventy-five (175) from the place of beginning; and thence in an exactly east course forty-two feet to a fence post marked; thence in a northerly course one hundred and seventy-five feet to a fence post marked and standing on the Southerly side of the highway; thence in a Westerly course in a straight line fifty-five feet to the place of beginning, more or less.

Also all that other certain piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the said Town of Shandaken, near the premises above described and on the easterly side of a private road or lane leading to Andres Cole's barn, and bounded as follows, Viz:

Beginning at a cherry fence post on the southerly side of the public highway, and running thence south two degrees and thirty minutes west two chains and fifty links, running seventeen feet from the westerly side of John York's dwelling house, to a stream of water; thence up the said stream of water to the corner of the bridge at a stake and stones; thence northerly along a board fence about two chains and fifty links to a fence post on the southerly side of the highway; thence along a board fence to the place of beginning, be the same more or less.

Also all that certain piece or parcel of land situate at Oliverea, in the Town of Shandaken, Ulster County and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows, Viz:

Beginning at the north west corner of lands owned by Dolly S. Jocelyn, wife of George E. Jocelyn, and running thence up the Dryer Hollow Road one hundred and seventy-two feet (172) thence in a southerly direction to Edgar Haynes line to a heap of stones on wall; thence in an easterly direction two hundred and forty-eight (248) feet to lands of Dolly S. Jocelyn, thence along said line in a northerly direction to the place of beginning: Containing one acre of land, be the same more or less.

Being the same premises this day conveyed to the party of the first part by the parties of the second part, this mortgage being given to secure a part of the purchase price of the said premises. Being a part of the premises conveyed to the parties of the second part by Hattie L. Johnson by deed dated September 15, 1916, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book 461 of Deeds at page 25. The parcel last hereinabove described being the same premises as the parcel first hereinabove described, it being the intention of the party of the first part to convey to the parties of the second part all of the premises described in said deed from Hattie L. Johnson to the parties of the second part hereto except the first parcel described (as containing one hundred and twenty-five acres of land, be the same more or less)) in said deed."

The foregoing description so contained in said judgment is taken from the description of the premises to be sold which is contained in the mortgage to foreclose which this action was brought.

Dated, March 17, 1924.

40 Rounds at Armory April 25

Beginning Friday evening, April 25, Batteries E and I, 132nd Ammunition Train, New York National Guard, will conduct boxing exhibitions semi-monthly at the State Armory. The final arrangements were arranged at a meeting of the local battery authorities with Barney Williams, matchmaker and referee.

It was decided to stage forty rounds of boxing, including a feature bout with the usual semi-finals and preliminary bouts. Williams is planning to have a first class exhibition and some good cards are promised for the introductory show.

Williams will book all fights and act as referee in all contests. He is an old hand at the game, being a boxer himself.

The ring will be erected in the center of the drill shed and bleachers put up around the walls. Between the bleachers and the ring will be the ringside and reserved seats. This arrangement will enable the ring to be seen from any seat in the hall.

All the boxers who appear at these shows must be members of the National Guard. Many of the best men in the game are members of the guard, as the big armories in New York stage fights, and to get on the cards a boxer must be a member in good standing.

The bouts for the opening engagement will be announced at a later date. Williams has returned to New York and will immediately begin to arrange a first class card. The exhibitions are managed under the same methods as the State Commission fights. There are two judges and a timer and a referee.

The boxers will weigh in at the armory before the club physician eight hours before the fights. The rules to govern the contests are the same as those set by the State Boxing Commission.

ST. REMY.

Britain Accepts Dawes Report

"Greatly Satisfied" With It, Says MacDonald—Will Support It if Others Do.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 15.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald announced in the house of commons today that Great Britain is prepared to "support the Dawes reparation plan in its entirety provided the other interested nations do likewise."

"The British government is greatly satisfied with the experts' report," continued the premier. "It is unbiased and a carefully thought out endeavor to aid the governments concerned."

Premier MacDonald and his cabinet have been studying the Dawes plan ever since it was published last Wednesday. They believe that it offers a sound solution of the reparation problem which has vexed Europe for nearly five years.

FORD BRANCH MAKES NEW DELIVERY RECORD.

From March 1 to March 31, inclusive, the New York branch of the Ford Motor Company delivered 13,441 Ford passenger cars and trucks, representing an increase of 54% over March, 1923. In addition, 349 Fordson tractors were delivered, showing an increase of 30%, and the Lincoln sales represent an increase of 85% for the month of March last year. This means an actual cash business of $7,316,735 for the month and establishes a new record for the New York branch.

Mr. Plaintiff is very optimistic over conditions in general and states further that all of the branches in his division have shown a tremendous increase in their volume for the month and anticipate a record breaking season for deliveries.

During the last two weeks the New York branch has been making a very careful survey of conditions all through the territory and the general outlook is that April and May will show a greater increase than March.

RED SOX WITH NEW PLAYERS MEET YANKEES.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, April 15.—The Red Sox, a new and better ball club under Manager Lee Fohl, opposed the Yankees at Fenway Park today. Fair weather was on tap for the opening game of the season.

Six new players were in the Red Sox lineup. They are Wambsganss, Veach, Boone, Shanks, O'Neill and Lee. Babe Ruth is ready to establish a beginning for a record that will outpoint his former ones. Dudley Lee was making his bow at short stop, starting a season that will probably make him a sensation before long.

NEW PALTZ.

New Paltz, April 14.—A number of New Paltz people were guests at the meeting of the O. E. S. that was held in the lodge rooms at Highland this week.

Mrs. Daniel Hasbrouck entertained friends at her home on South Chestnut street Thursday afternoon, April 10.

Cornelius H. DuBois died Sunday night, April 6. Funeral was held from his residence Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. Ernest Clapp officiating. Mr. DuBois was fifty-eight years old and had been ill for a long time. He was well known in the community, being a prominent member of the local Grange. He is survived by a wife, two sons and two brothers. Interment was in the New Paltz Cemetery.

Fred B. Dolan, representative of the Stutz Fire Engine Company, was in this village one day last week, but would not comply with the request of the village board to bring the Stutz apparatus to New Paltz for demonstration.

Miss Giddings entertained her friend, Miss Beebe over the week-end.

Beginning on Monday evening, April 14, and continuing through the week, except Saturday, the three Protestant churches in this village will hold union services, as follows: Monday, Reformed Church; Tuesday and Friday, at Methodist; Wednesday and Thursday, at St. Andrew's Episcopal. Services in charge of the pastor. Meeting begin at 7:30, to last one hour. Everyone has a cordial invitation to attend.

Miss Liebergeld will spend her Easter vacation at her home in Montgomery, Orange county.

Miss Lydia Lang has returned to school, after being out ill for a week.

Miss Littlefield of the normal, will spend her vacation in town.

ZENA.

Zena, April 14.—William Klementis had the misfortune to lose one of the horses of his team on Friday night.

Dorothy Lord spent the week-end at Harrison's in Woodstock.

Helen Kelly and William Klementis called on Alice Klementis at Woodstock on Thursday night.

The Community Club of Zena met on Friday, April 4th, at the church hall. A goodly crowd was present and the evening enjoyed by all. A cake and candy sale was held after the regular business meeting. The proceeds are for the benefit of the club. William Klementis, Jr., was elected vice-president. There will be a poverty social at the next meeting on May 2nd.

On Friday evening, April 11, Mrs. Willis Wolven of Spillway celebrated her birthday with a number of her friends who gave her a surprise party in honor of that event. The Ladies of the League of this place and their families met at the school house and all motored out together. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Wolven was presented with a plant by the members of the club. Refreshments were served and all left at a late hour wishing Mrs. Wolven many more happy birthdays.

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months—constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happiness was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, restored his health. But read his letter.

"Dear Sirs:

. . . this is what I think of your krumbled bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world. . . . for three years I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better now than I have for three years."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway measures—with brans which are only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective.

Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nut-like flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable brans. You will like it as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Lanzianest Couple Dead

Both Mr. and Mrs. Quirino Lanzianest of Cementon who were horribly burned early Saturday morning of last week after Mrs. Lanzianest had poured gasoline instead of kerosene on the wood in the stove, died Saturday afternoon at the Benedictine Hospital in this city, where they were brought. They had been married only five months. The husband inhaled the flames when he rushed to the rescue of his wife, his throat being seared as well as his body. The house was consumed.

HAVE YOU A COAT OF ARMS ON YOUR BLOUSE?

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

From the monogram to the coat of arms is only a step—a logical sequence, hence the blouse emblazoned with one's family crest. That one may not have a family crest is a minor detail, or that one is expected to use it in preference to a more decorative one is absurd. A crest is a decoration, and like the decorative monogram, not to be taken literally.

One of the first models to carry a coat of arms was a travel coat in soft tawny leather, the crest in red suede and gold thread. The idea has spread and one now finds blouses and ties, belts and even hats ornamented in this fashion.

The first requisite of a blouse these days is that it presents a good front to the world. Concerning its back and its sleeves, we are curiously indifferent. Such details are fated to go unseen under the coat, which custom or fashion or what you will decrees, is to remain on your own instead of the chair back.

That is, if the coat in question is part of the mannish suit, one must be consistent, you see, and behave in a mannish coat as the mannish-coated should behave.

With a costume suit or a separate coat the blouse which serves as a dress top matters tremendously from all points of view. That many of the smartest blouses are sans sleeves might indicate that the designer expected them to serve merely as gilets or might indicate that the sleeveless dress having become so much of a factor, the blouse dares to follow.

Neckwear counters have more than their usual appeal just now, because of the novelty gilets that are displayed. Many of them have choker collars or collars that are perilously near being so, buttoning demurely at the base of the throat and affording an opportunity for adding a narrow Roman ribbon sometimes threaded in and out through the front and ending in a pendant which may be a salalith or metal monogram or crest. Bands of contrasting color, ribbon braid or stripes of material are a blouse decoration are in current favor. Rick-rack braid, not only white, but dyed in brilliant hues, is among the revivals of the things of long ago.

Agricultural School Camps

Superintendent M. J. Michael has received a communication from the University of the State of New York calling attention to the fact that on page 165 of the bulletin to the schools under date of March 1, appears a brief announcement of farm camps for town and city boys.

Camps will be located at the state schools of agriculture at Alfred, Canton, Cobleskill, Delhi, Farmingdale and Morrisville. Two camps will be conducted at each school; one camp from July 7 to 19, inclusive, and one camp from July 21 to August 2, inclusive.

By means of organized supervised practical work on the school farms, the boys attending the camps are provided an opportunity for "self-discovery" in determining if they have aptitudes for or interest in a farming vocation and living in the open country. Boys work half of each day and spend the remaining time in organized play and athletic activities.

Experience in the season of 1923 prompts us to limit the attendance to boys between the ages of 15 and 18 years inclusive.

If in any village or city a group of at least five boys express active interest in the camps, a representative of this department or a representative from the state schools will on request confer with the boys and their teachers and parents on a convenient date. At such conference definite enrollments may be secured. If less than five boys express interest, these boys or their teachers or parents should correspond with the director of the school nearest their city.

No charge is made for lodging. The cost of board is pro-rated among the members of the camp in accordance with the actual expense of food and labor. Last season the cost was approximately $5 a week. A safe margin is from $5 to $7 per week. Each boy is required to make a deposit of $5 on arrival at the school to cover breakage and incidental camp expenses. A portion of this amount is returnable to him at the close of the camp.

This department will be pleased to furnish additional information to school officials or parents in regard to the camps. Every effort is being made to provide a sound educational program and to correlate the work of these schools with the public school program in the state."

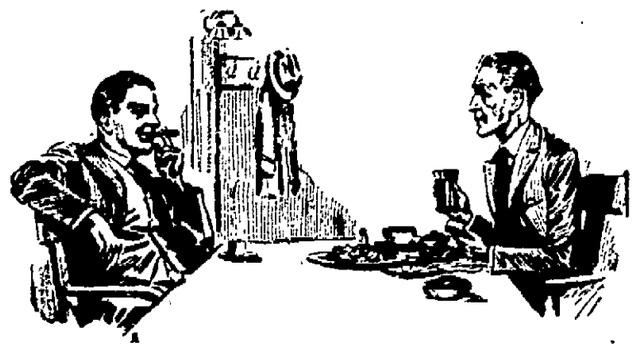
Why Eat and Eat and Eat and Still Stay Skinny?



If you wonder why you remain skinny and lacking in energy even though you eat a lot, just try taking BURKE'S COD LIVER OIL and IRON TABLETS three or four times a day. They supply in highly concentrated form the health-giving body-building vitamines which escape in the cooking of most modern foods and which science says you must have in order to be well and strong and in perfect physical condition.

In this way the body gets the utmost in nourishment from the food you eat—the appetite is stimulated and the digestion aided. Increased energy and nerve-strength follow. The tissues being properly nourished, are filled out. The face and figure round into more perfect form and proportion. The blood racing with life and vigor gives a healthy color and radiance.

With plenty of firm, solid flesh on your bones you can look like the vigorous appearing man in the picture. The food you eat will do you good—you can see for yourself that it is giving you renewed vigor and increased power of endurance. You will not continue to appear skinny and undernourished.

This new scientific method of presenting the body building elements of Cod Liver Oil in tablet form makes it possible for thousands to get the benefit of this great tonic who never before have been able to take it because of its nauseous fishy taste. Now all this has been changed and Cod Liver Oil has been combined with Iron and other health building ingredients to form the quickest weight builder and strengthener known in all medicines.

Just one concentrated tablet of BURKE'S COD LIVER OIL and IRON taken four times a day with meals will bring amazing increase in your bodily vigor and marked changes for the better in your appearance. These improvements will be noticeable in a very short time—in most cases within a few days. This condition of better health and greater strength will not leave you—it will be permanent and lasting as you continue this wonderful vitamine treatment.

Money Back Guarantee.

You are not asked to risk a single cent to find out if BURKE'S COD LIVER OIL and IRON TABLETS give you the buoyant, lively spirit of youth, a firm, elastic step, bright eyes, rosy cheeks, the strength and endurance and the hearty appetite of the rejuvenated mind and body. All you have to do is to take BURKE'S COD LIVER OIL and IRON TABLETS according to the simple directions for 15 days. If, at the end of that time, you don't feel like a new person, your druggist is authorized to refund the purchase price at once, without question or red tape, on your simple request.

Astle Replies To DuBois

William H. Astle, writing from Newark, N. J., April 14, requests The Freeman to print the following in reply to a letter in this paper April 7, signed by Herman I. DuBois, of Kingston Post, American Legion:

I note in The Kingston Freeman of April 7, your article and wish to answer same to you and the public. Your attention being called to the fact that there was an ex-service man, in Kingston selling talcum powder was the truth. It was sold by one buddy between the 28th of March and April 5th. But it can be proven that this special powder was not sold for the benefit of the American Legion and the person selling it didn't say so either. The powder that had the label of Veteran Manufacturing Co. of New York city is being sold by ex-service men to help themselves along. A few boys have gotten together and are trying to get on their feet again and have formed the above company. The article is packed by a company. It is their hope to sell enough of it so they will be able to buy the raw materials and then produce it themselves all the way through. Of course, we must all creep before we can walk, and that is just what we are doing now. Your article about the hospital is not a true statement.

The hospital was known as the Catskill Convalescent Hospital at Stamford, N. Y. It was opened and leased from Mr. Reeves (lawyer), of New York city, for the period of six months. Patients who were ex-service men were sent to the home without cost to themselves. The expense was kept up through the sale of artificial flowers and subscriptions. Anyone in Stamford and many in Kingston who spent last summer there saw the home. Instead of "the next stop being the state of New Jersey," which is untrue, the reason for the arrest of the men in Trenton was on account of the boys wearing uniforms. At the time of the occurrence the home was closed for alterations of heating and lighting. The boys fared very well and were let out on bail of $1,000 each.

The complaint against them was caused by the American Legion of said state and claimed that the hospital was only a dream. But after the case being tried in U. S. federal court it proved that the hospital was there and they were doing what they claimed. The lease of the hospital and letters from other prominent people, besides the heirs of the estate, were shown to the judge at the trial. I think that if the American Legion would investigate a thing thoroughly before it began to talk it would be better off. It is all right to expose a fellow who is posing as an ex-service man, but when a fellow comes into your city and has a discharge and a N. Y. Veterans' License he must be O. K. Plenty of the boys must seek outdoor employment and they all can't stay in their own home town. For a square deal to the disabled ex-service man we stand four square for a square deal.

Why Girls With Yellow Teeth Are Unpopular

No girl with yellow-stained teeth can be popular—no matter how attractive she may be otherwise. A girl may have a pretty face or a pleasant personality—yet if her teeth have a yellowish look she cannot be truly charming to men.

Men may admire personal daintiness in a woman more than the clothes she wears. Notice the girl with pearly white teeth—she has a charm and attractiveness that is always lacking in the girl with yellowish teeth.

Yet there are still many girls with dull, dingy teeth who have not found out that teeth stains and discolorations can be completely removed by using a new scientific treatment recently perfected. This marvelous discovery is known as Bicarbodent Combination. Contains a mild liquid which quickly softens and loosens the hardened stains which cling to the teeth so that they can be gently removed by the special kind of paste included in treatment. Once the stains have vanished Bicarbodent Combination will prevent the formation of future stains and keep the teeth beautifully white always.

This wonderful treatment, while it completely cleans the teeth, does not affect the enamel as its mild ingredients are especially combined to act only on surface stains. Men always admire sparkling white teeth. So get Bicarbodent Combination containing both liquid and paster today. Small cost. For sale at all good druggists.

Guides' Licenses And Posted Land

An important amendment to the law requiring the licensing of guides in the forest preserve counties is made in the Rabenold bill signed by Governor Smith which now becomes Chapter 74 of the laws of 1924.

An amendment provides that a guide is a person who engages for hire, either directly or indirectly, in the business of guiding and adds the following definition of guiding. "Guiding includes every act whereby a person directs, aids, assists or instructs another person in taking fish, birds or quadrupeds within the forest preserve counties or in traversing therein."

Governor Smith has also signed the bill of Senator Rabenold amending the Conservation law in relation to posting of private parks and private lands. The new amendment provides that where lands are posted, the notices shall bear the name and address of the party posting, and supplies a lawful form of notice for the posting of a private park under the provisions of the law. The form provided reads: "Private Park. All persons are warned against hunting or fishing hereon or trespassing hereon for these purposes. However, this does not prevent or invalidate the use of other forms.

Hereafter, where the notices fail to bear the name and address of the party posting, the land will not be lawfully posted. This law is Chapter 49 of the laws of 1924.

President Coolidge, in a letter to the Senate, sharply criticised the actions of the committee headed by Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, in endeavoring to secure information regarding the income taxes of every company in which Secretary of the Treasury Andrew J. Mellon is interested. U. S. Senator Samuel Shortridge, of California, narrowly escaped the fate of Senator Frank L. Greene, of Vermont, who was shot in the head by a dry agent in chasing a bootlegging suspect. Mr. Shortridge was in the line of fire when Detective Ogle fired at another bootlegger. He asserted that when he remonstrated with the detective he was told "to shut up or be run in." Augustus John, noted English portrait painter, arriving in New York for another tour, gave the palm to America, and especially to New York City, for wonderful architecture.

ARMISTICE AT ST. STEPHEN'S; SOPHOMORES BEST PADDLERS

Bad feeling that has existed between the sophomore and freshman classes at St. Stephen's College at Annandale, Dutchess county, has been settled by declaring an armistice. Friday night a party of sophomores paddled a freshman which angered the freshmen who returned the compliment Saturday night by paddling a sophomore said to have been active in the Friday night affair. Saturday night the two classes came together in an open clash in front of Warden's Hall. Notwithstanding Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, president of the college, announced that "paddling" must stop and any student caught at it would be expelled, there was another "paddling" session Monday morning about 12:30. This caused the president of the student body to call an armistice and awarded the victory to the sophomores.

CATHOLIC CENSUS BEFORE ANNUAL CHARITIES APPEAL

A census will be taken among the parishes of the Catholic archdiocese of New York beginning April 22. Volunteer organizations in local churches will conduct the census in this vicinity. The census will determine the number of Catholics in the archdiocese of New York preliminary to the annual appeal within the Catholic Church for the archdiocesan Catholic Charities organization. The archdiocesan territory extends from Staten Island on the south to Kingston on the north and Port Jervis on the west. The figures will be presented to Cardinal Hayes on April 29 by the chairmen of the sixteen districts in the diocese.

M. E. Conference To Meet In May

Unification and Reorganization After Centenary Among Important Matters to Come Up—To Be Many Women Delegates.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, scheduled to meet in Springfield, Massachusetts throughout the month of May, next, will be one of the most important in the history of the denomination. There will be approximately 850 delegates from all parts of the United States and from forty-four nations and territories abroad. Delegates from the foreign field elected to represent the various national groups of Methodists abroad number 78, among whom are nine women. This gathering is representative of the 4,774,520 members of the Methodist Episcopal Church around the world and is the law-making body of the denomination. All decisions made by it are final unless reconsidered by the body itself.

The delegations consist of an equal number of ministers and laymen from 162 annual conferences which elect them. Their number is determined by the membership included in the annual conferences.

The plan for unification with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which was drawn up by commissions from the two denominations, will be considered by the General Conference. It is understood that the outlook is considered favorable by officials whose opinions are of weight. It provides for the churches to be united into one church with two jurisdictions. If the plan is accepted by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in May at Springfield, the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which normally meets in 1925, will probably be called in special session to consider the plan. Acceptance by that body will make the plan effective. It is understood that large sections of the membership of each of the two churches are in favor of unification and consummation of the efforts of the past decade are regarded as highly probable through the action of the two General Conferences.

Another question to be reviewed by the General Conference and which will attract the attention of the entire Christian world is the status of the episcopacy of the denomination. The entire system of episcopal supervision will be considered. It is impossible to predict what turn this action would take but all regard it as one of the most weighty before the church today. The question has not been so reviewed in the past twenty-five to fifty years.

The entire organization of the benevolent boards of the denomination is to be considered and the plans debated for reorganization.

Several plans have been discussed in various sections of the church and a commission was appointed to study the question. The General Conference will decide whether the present ten highly specialized boards will be combined into a single general board with many departments, combined into a smaller group of four or five, or left as they are.

Church folk throughout Christendom are interested in the machinery with which the Methodist Episcopal Church will undertake its World Service program after the conclusion of the five year Centenary expansion movement for which $70,000,000 was given, and which is the largest and most successful benevolent enterprise in systematic giving in the history of Christianity. The morning devotions and the lectures and address of the evenings will be broadcasted through Westinghouse WBZ. Extensive exhibits of the work of the church in all divisions will be held in conjunction with the General Conference.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT ALBANY AVENUE CHURCH

Special services will be held at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week, culminating in the Easter services on Sunday. On Thursday evening at 7:30 there will be a communion service, and preceding that at 7 o'clock the pastor and deacons will meet any who desire to unite with the church. On Friday evening is the Good Friday service, at which the pastor will give an appropriate message and Mr. Brigham and Mr. Clum will sing a duet, "So Thou Liftest Thy Divine Petition," from Stainer's "Crucifixion." On Sunday at the special Easter services an augmented choir will render Wildermere's Easter cantata, "The Living Christ," under the direction of Mrs. Asenath Hayes, part at the morning service and part in the evening.

To Bless Flags And to Parade

The blessing of the new American and Polish flags of the Polish Sick and Aid Society, which are to be raised over the Charity Home, under the name of the White Eagle Hall, on Delaware avenue, will take place Sunday, May 4, at the solemn high Mass at 10:30 o'clock with impressive ceremonies.

After the services the society, with organizations from this city and several from Poughkeepsie and Newburgh, will form a line of march at the White Eagle Hall and will march up Delaware avenue to Broadway, to the post office and return to the White Eagle Hall, where there will be several speakers and Mayor Morris Block will raise the flags.

The American flag will be raised in honor of the American soldiers and sailors who fought for the freedom and independence and democracy of their country.

The Polish flag will be raised in honor of Kosciusko, Pulaski and other Polish noblemen who fought under Washington for the freedom of this country.

The younger generation of Americans of Polish descent within the society announce that they are willing to do all in their power to carry on the work started by their forefathers and thank the American people for their kindness shown during the erection of the building and being shown at the present time.

Societies will be present from Kingston Point and East Kingston.

Program will be announced later.

Gohl Murder Trial Is Begun

But One Juror Secured First Day—Story of Crime—One Indictment Dismissed—Two Plead Not Guilty of Pistol Toting.

County court convened Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time the criminal calendar was taken up by District Attorney Traver who moved the trial of the indictment against Charles W. Gohl. Gohl was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder, second degree, it being alleged that he killed Mrs. Dora Burke at New Paltz on February 11. Walter J. Miller was appointed by the court to defend Gohl and Chris. J. Flanagan appears with Miller. The work of taking a jury progressed slowly during the afternoon session and when court adjourned for the day but one juror had been secured. The case was continued today.

Charles W. Gohl, 69 years old, a German who came to this country some 40 years ago has been employed at New Paltz and vicinity for about 25 years. He worked on various farms and through his dependable nature had been employed by Elting Harp of Main street, New Paltz, for some time. He had worked from time to time for Mr. Harp and prior to the murder he had been employed by Mr. Harp steadily for some time as handy man about the place. Gohl occupied a room on the ground floor of the Harp residence.

Mrs. Burke, a widow, 30 years old, was also employed at the Harp residence as a domestic. She occupied a room on the upper floor of the house. On the afternoon of the murder Mrs. Burke was occupied in the house getting the evening meal when Gohl appeared in the kitchen. He, according to the statement made by Mrs. Burke in anticipation of death, made advances to her which she repulsed and he then seized a carving knife which he plunged into Mrs. Burke's abdomen. He then left the house and went to the barn where he remained until placed under arrest by Constable Alanson Decker. Mrs. Burke's cries for help brought several neighbors and Mr. and Mrs. Harp. Mr. Harp was approaching the house at the time and noticed Gohl standing near the barn making no effort to answer the cries for help given by Mrs. Burke.

Dr. H. A. Trayner of New Paltz was summoned and gave such treatment as could be given and Mrs. Burke was rushed to the Kingston City Hospital where she died the following morning at 7:30 o'clock. Gohl was arrested and brought to the county jail where he was held under a charge of assault first degree, pending the outcome of Mrs. Burke's injuries. Gohl made no effort to escape following the stabbing. It is claimed that during the day of the act he had absented himself from the house for a time and that when he appeared again at the house he was under the influence of liquor. At the time of the stabbing, according to Mrs. Burke's statement made before death, he was intoxicated.

Mrs. Burke was the mother of five children, one about a year and a half old being with its mother at the time of the murder. Mrs. Burke was a resident of New Paltz and had been employed at the Harp home for about a year.

Monday afternoon the extra panel of jurors drawn to assist in the trial of criminal cases was examined and those presenting legal excuses were excused by the court.

John W. Eckert moved the dismissal of the indictment against Sarah Marshall of the town of Shandaken. This indictment was found in December 1922, and grew out of an affair in one of the water works shacks at Allaben, where liquor was possessed in violation of the repealed Mullan-Gage law. Since that time two of the witnesses, both colored, have disappeared and it has been impossible to locate them. The defendant had put up a cash bail and as it would be impossible to locate the missing witnesses District Attorney Traver joined in the request made by Mr. Eckert. An order dismissing the indictment was entered and the bail will be returned.

Clarence Cross, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of possessing a pistol in violation of paragraph 4, section 1897, of the penal law, was arraigned and through Leroy Lounsberry who appeared for Judge William D. Cunningham, entered a plea of not guilty. Bail was continued.

William Kiersted, indicted for possessing a pistol, was also arraigned and entered a plea of not guilty. He had no attorney, but stated that he could employ one. The alleged violation took place in the city of Kingston on February 11, 1924.

Every man's task is his life preserver.

Many a man has noble aims—but it is the hits that count.

Opportunity fools a man about as often as he takes it in.

The man with the largest library usually has the least time to read.

Men are not necessarily big guns because they happen to be big bores.

The man who hasn't a friend in the world has no one but himself to blame.

The man who insists on talking about himself soon wears out his audience.

No man can be happy who has more time and money than he knows how to use.

Don't antagonize a man with a cool million, he is in a position to make it hot for you.

Don't make the mistake of giving a man advice which doesn't conform to his own opinion.

We have no use for conceit, but there's many a thing every man ought to be too proud to do.

An ill-natured man suffers from a thousand irritations which the good-natured man never notices.

A crank is a man who takes and reads an automobile magazine, although he doesn't own an automobile.

Oldest British Custom Revived During the War

When the war flung the world into confusion it laid its hand on the oldest custom in the British Isles, a most curious practice that had come from the far-off time of the Druids and had flourished from then without a break until the year 1915. In Burghead, a little fishing place on the Moray firth, this custom had been practiced from the very dawn of human society. It is the strange ritual of the burning of the clavie.

The clavie is made of a half barrel roughly put together and attached to a long pole by which it is carried. A stone is used to hammer in the wooden pegs that serve for nails, for it is considered as unlawful to allow iron to touch the wood. Old tales tell how a wicker basket with a fish inside used to be burned. Perhaps when the first Druid lighted the first clavie the sacrifice was something greater than a fish. Within more recent times neither basket nor fish appears, but the clavie is filled with chips of wood and shavings plentifully sprinkled with tar. The whole mass is set on fire by means of burning peat.

With an oilskin over his shoulder, the clavie bearer lifts his burning burden on his back and sets off to the site of a Roman camp, rocky promontory that thrusts itself out into the sea. Here a stone pedestal has been erected to hold the fire.

In this strange ritual Druidical and Christian customs are strangely interwoven. The lighting with peat was pagan and harks back to the sacrificial fires of Baal. The circling of the village sunward is from the same source. To the Druids the sun was an immediate object of worship. The use of wooden pegs rather than of iron nails and the use of a stone instead of a hammer are Christian, for the early Christian would not use the iron with which our Lord was nailed to the cross.

Why the custom lingered in quaint little Burghead we cannot tell. In 1915 the admiralty forbade the showing of all lights seaward and the calvie was left unkindled. In 1919, however, this sole British survival of the worship of fire, the first of all religions and rituals, was rekindled.

Don't Cultivate Harsh Voice

The nearest human object is the most interesting fact of a child's existence, and naturally is the first model, every detail of which is eagerly watched and copied.

It often requires the expenditure of much effort in after life to correct the unpleasant habits of voices and the facial contortions, careless diction and impediments of speech such as lisping and stammering, which are acquired from mothers or nurses during the time when every small muscle of a child's face, vocal apparatus and body were forming their very first habits.

Nothing that a mother can provide for her child's future is more important than the practice of controlling her own voice in the presence of the child, when necessary, and of distinct articulation, and of a reasonable amount of control of her facial expression. When she controls these, control of her moods will take care of itself.

From Pumice Island

Pumice Island, near Salton sea, five miles northwest of Calipatria, in southern California, contributes thirty carloads of pumice to the commerce of the world each year. Pumice Island was once an island in Salton sea, but now, three miles inland, it is entirely surrounded by dry land. However, it retains its old name on local maps. Only a few years ago it was nothing more than a volcanic peak, rising above the waters of the inland sea, but the waters have been receding so rapidly that it now stands three miles back from the shore.

91 Pounds of Pork Per Person Eaten Last Year, Beats All U. S. Records

Packers' Ability to Market Products of Greatest Hog Crop Prevented Farm Disaster

AMERICAN dinner tables had more meat on them last year than at any time in the last fifteen years. Nearly 18½ billion pounds were consumed. More than half of it was pork.

Data compiled by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, shows that not only was the consumption of meat—167 pounds per capita—the largest since 1908, but the consumption of pork reached the record total of over 10 billion pounds. This was more than 91 pounds per person. Two years ago the average per capita consumption of pork was a little under 73 pounds and in 1922 about 76 pounds.

The situation reveals that a record-breaking number of hogs were sold by American farmers and that the national packers not only bought them as they came, preventing a ruinous break in prices to the farmers, but also sold a greater volume of hog products to consumers than ever before.

In this connection the Bureau of Animal Industry says:

"The severe depression of 1920-1921, when raising hogs was a losing business, was followed in 1922 by rising prices for hogs, together with a big surplus of corn. Thus was brought about the inevitable cycle of under-production and over-production which has been the history of hog raising ever since corn and hogs and prices became related with one another on a scale of magnitude.

"It will be recalled that corn became so abundant and cheap that it was in some places used for fuel, and at the same time market prices of hogs took an upward trend. Hence, hog breeders soon became busy, with the result that marketing increased appreciably in 1922 and in 1923 reached a height never before approached.

Before last year the high record in hog production occurred in 1916, with an estimated total slaughter of 70,054,800. The total for 1923 is $1,532,600."

In other words, due entirely to economic forces, the hog farmers faced a real crisis. It was seemingly written in the law of supply and demand that the market for hogs was doomed to collapse, glutted by over production. As a matter of fact, however, the average price paid for the live animal last year was only one and two thirds cents a pound less than the average price for 1922. Prices were stable and there was little fluctuation.

Cash Market Maintained

Government figures show how the collapse was averted. The national packers, in the interest of both producer and consumer, bought hogs, no matter how many were offered and regardless of the demand for the meat products. They have no control over either supply or demand. Armour and Company, for instance, bought during the year more than 10,000,000 hogs,—over 20 percent more than the year before.

The packers not only absorbed more hogs than ever before in their history, but marketed the products so effectively that more pork was consumed in the U. S. than in any previous year. This could not have been accomplished without the national packers' branch houses, car routes and distributing facilities to every town and hamlet in the country. Due to their efforts to find a market for the farmers' products arriving in such unprecedented volume, the per capita consumption of pork increased more than one pound a month during the year.

The ability of the packers to give national distribution, to finance larger purchases than current demand warranted, and their facilities for protecting the future needs of consumers, averted a farm disaster that would probably have been felt in commodity prices all over the country.

ONE OF THE GREATEST ACTION PICTURES EVER SNAPPED.

This photograph has been pronounced by experts to be one of the greatest action pictures ever snapped. It was taken at the recent running of the Grand National Steeplechase, in England, premier jumping race in the world, won this year by Master Robert, owned by Lord Airlie, a 25 to 1 outsider in the betting. This picture was made at the historic Beecher's Brook jump, one of the hardest on this hazardous course, and shows six of the jumpers poised in the air, while the seventh has just landed and taken up his stride. King George, Queen Mary and members of the royal family attended.

STUDENT SHOOTS HIS CLASSMATE, ENDS OWN LIFE

Note Says Victim Was Tired of Life, but Lacked Courage to End It.

Pottstown, Pa.—Because his dearest friend, James Warmkessel, did not have courage enough to commit suicide, Thomas Shenton shot him and then sent a bullet through his own head in Shenton's room at the Y. M. C. A. Both were students at the Wharton School of Finance evening school, University of Pennsylvania.

Apparently both were doing well. Each had a responsible position and was gaining an education. Their class work was satisfactory. Each was twenty-five years old and they were inseparable companions outside of working hours.

"Jim and I are both disgusted with ourselves. It's awful to be weaklings, with nothing in yourselves to be proud of. So what's the use? He is trying to kill himself by running himself down, for he says he hasn't nerve enough to shoot himself. I can't stand by and see him die that way. And he's too good a friend to hope for another like him. So we have decided to go together. TOM."

Warmkessel's body was near the door. His overcoat and hat were still on. He had been shot through the chest and head. Shenton, full clad, was lying on the bed with a wound in his heart. Near him was the revolver. The police believe the pair attended night session at the Wharton school, returned from Philadelphia on a late train and went to Shenton's room to discuss the futility of living, and decided to die.

Bodies Found in Morning.

The shots did not disturb other men in the dormitory. Not until Adolph Kaiser, superintendent of the "Y," was making an inspection tour about 8 a. m. were the bodies found. Dr. T. Edmund Wills stated the youths had been dead several hours

Warmkessel's mother, with whom he lived, was told why her son had not returned home Shenton's parents are dead. His father was the late Col. H. A. Shenton.

Shenton was employed by the Alan Wood Iron and Steel company, and Warmkessel by the McClintic-Marshall Construction company.

Fakers Sell King Tut's "Pearls" in Mt. Vernon

Mount Vernon.—Two suave men in silk hats and fur-lined overcoats drove through the Chester Hill district in Mount Vernon recently selling, at "special rates," pearls which they said had been discovered in the tomb of King-Tut Ankh-Amen. Their business was interrupted by motorcycle policemen and they sped away toward the Bronx in a limousine.

Ten or more complaints reached police headquarters in connection with the sale of the alleged pearls at from $10 to $25 a string

Stanley Robinson became suspicious after he had invested $10 in the Egyptian trophies and took them to a jeweler, who said they could be duplicated in any ten-cent store in the city. Robinson then complained to the police

Red Tape Beats Guillotine; French Verdict Lacks Initial

Paris—The red tape of French law has saved Albert Le Clery from the guillotine Le Clery was tried at Chartres for attempted murder of a policeman, and the jury had no hesitation in finding him guilty unanimously.

When it was pointed out to the jurors that there was no need to specify the "unanimously" in their written verdict, they crossed out the word. They failed, however, to initial the correction in the margin, an omission which the Supreme court now holds invalidated the verdict.

Find Ferret Drinking Sleeping Girl's Blood

Sioux City, Ia.—Attacked by a ferret, which sucked her blood while she slept, Helen Greenbaum, nine years old, is seriously ill.

The ferret's teeth were buried in the child's flesh, and its sides were distended by the blood it had drawn from the child's veins, when the father missed it and found it in his daughter's bed.

BOY IS SHIPPED HOME IN BIG DRY GOODS BOX

Attempts to Take Trip as "Glass" and Is Jailed.

Barstow, Tex.—Mental telepathy sent William Green Baker, eighteen-year-old youth of Dallas, Tex., to jail in Barstow, and he is there as a result of one of the strangest offenses ever listed on a court docket.

The subconscious mind of a messenger on an express train between El Paso and Big Spring caused Baker to be discovered, as, encased in a dry goods box, he neared the end of his great adventure.

Penniless, friendless, and unable to find work, the youth yearned for his mother and his home as he trudged the streets of Prescott, Ariz. He confided his desire to two tramps. They agreed to help him.

Baker was placed in a dry goods box he had purchased from a Prescott store. His companions nailed him up in the box and carried it to the office of the American Express company. The box was marked "Fragile! Glass! Handle with care! This side up!"

The waybill listed the shipment as dishes, valued at $150, and the youthful wanderer, encased in the box, rode in an express car from Wednesday until Saturday afternoon.

The messenger who found Baker said: "As I worked at my desk, my subconscious mind told me some one was in the car looking at me. Goose flesh spread over my body. Mental telepathy convinced me that there was a live person in that box.

"I went over to the box and shook it. I said: 'Am I seeing spooks or is there somebody in this box?' Came a voice from within, 'For God's sake open this box and give me a drink of water!'

"I told the human freight that as soon as we reached Barstow, just a few miles up the road, I'd open the box. This I did Baker climbed out and I placed him in custody of the station agent."

Boa Constrictor Found on Bunch of Bananas

Lincoln, Neb.—A five foot boa constrictor, direct from Bananaland, arrived in Lincoln recently. This specimen of tropic life beat his way to Lincoln, getting through without any transportation charge whatever. He was found neatly coiled about the stem of a bunch of bananas unloaded at the Grainger fruit house in Lincoln.

The car had been billed from New Orleans, and the snake was apparently lifeless when found because of the chilly ride he had taken. He was warmed a bit by being placed in a glass jar and he came to life with a grudge against the world in general.

Orville Robertson, 1327 M street, was the workman who found the snake, and the find was enough to give him a shock. Mr. Robertson is an employee of the banana room

Body of Missing Child Found in Steel Lathing

Hot Springs, Ark.—What had developed into a nationwide search for Joel ("Spec") Dever, nine years old, who disappeared from his home here November 18, last, ended recently when workmen clearing the grounds about a partially constructed church building within a block of the child's home, found his body under a pile of steel laths which had fallen from the stack in which they had been placed

It is believed that the child, playing about the building, was caught under the falling steel and crushed to death Identification was made by a sweater which he is known to have worn when last seen.

At the time of his disappearance it was believed that the child had been kidnaped, possibly by an itinerant showman because of his prowess as a youthful contortionist and acrobat.

Child Put in Hot Oven by Parents, Is Charge

Des Moines, Ia.—Charged with torturing their nine-year-old adopted daughter by placing her in a stove oven, Steve and Anna Luke, negroes, were on trial before Judge W. G. Bonner in District court, charged with assault to kill.

The Lukes were arrested several months ago on the complaint of neighbors who charged them with constant mistreatment of their daughter. The adopted daughter told the grand jury that she had frequently been shoved into a hot stove for minor offenses.

According to the indictment, the Lukes vied with each other in creating new forms of punishment for the child. Officials have been keeping her at the juvenile home.

NEW SOURCES OF WEALTH IN WASTED FORCES OF NATURE

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift

It is interesting to note the many experiments now being made by scientists to utilize the forces of nature that have for centuries been wasted The successful outcome of these efforts will effect important economic changes in the future They involve gigantic problems in thrift, for just as a successful business concern is constantly seeking to eliminate unnecessary expense, so these efforts represent the endeavors of mankind to live more efficiently and economically.

Eighteen years ago an Italian manufacturer, noting the steady column of volcanic steam coming from the ground in an Italian mountain valley, conceived the idea that this steam could be made to drive an engine. He set up the necessary equipment and soon was running the machinery in his plant with power which nature had been wasting

This experiment in the utilization of volcanic steam has been successfully followed in many parts of the world In Bolivia the government has granted a concession through which steam from Mt. Tatio will be made use of in generating electrical energy for Bolivian railroads

Engineers state that our own country particularly Yellowstone Park, possesses untold sources of wealth of this description

Mechanical engineers are becoming more and more interested in the problem of utilizing the tides or the sea for generating electric power English engineers have stated that it is only a matter of time until the tidal activities in the harbors of Southern England will be made use of while engineers in the United States and Canada are interested in studies being made of the problem of making use of the tides in the Bay of Fundy

The development of hydro-electric power, which in recent years has reached large proportions, is, in the opinion of many experts only in its infancy

Scientists are experimenting, with apparent hopes of success in utilizing the sun's rays and the wind as sources of power.

The development of these projects not only provides an interesting study as to what the next 50 or 100 years will bring in the daily lives of the people, but it illustrates the great fundamental truth that thrift, conservation and efficiency are among the impelling factors in all human progress.

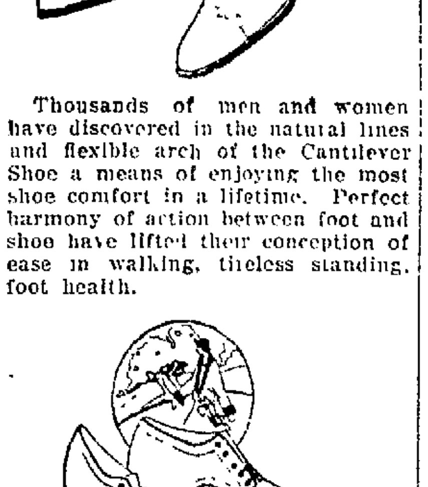
The Reduced Prices of Cantilever Shoes Make Comfort an Economy

They were priced reasonably before the recent reduction. No change having been made in the quality, Cantilever Shoes today stand before the country as the greatest value ever offered in scientific shoe construction. They make comfort an economy, not a luxury.

Thousands of men and women have discovered in the natural lines and flexible arch of the Cantilever Shoe a means of enjoying the most shoe comfort in a lifetime. Perfect harmony of action between foot and shoe have lifted their conception of ease in walking, tireless standing, foot health.



Thousands more are going to enjoy this comfort and "foot ability." That is one reason why prices were reduced, so that a large number of new wearers would begin to share the foot happiness available in the

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 15.—The stock market opened highly irregular today. Sentiment was very nervous, liquidation in various issues causing sharp losses, notably in Stewart Warner, Stromberg and Houston Oil which yielded one to 2 points to 68¼, 58 and 65½ respectively. U. S. Steel lost ⅛ to 95⅝ and Baldwin ⅝ to 109¼. Republic Steel rose ⅝ to 45⅛. Studebaker gained ¼ to 82⅝, but Overland Preferred lost ⅝ to 64⅝ and Mack Truck ⅝ to 76. Oils were heavy, Cosden losing ⅛ to 33⅛, Marland ⅝ to 35⅝ and General Asphalt ½ to 34. Union Pacific declined ⅝ to 128⅝, Wabash Preferred A ½ to 49 1-3, but Norfolk and Western rose ¼ to 127.

Following initial irregularity the market became firmer in the forenoon trading. Early losses turned into substantial gains.

SENATOR CARTER GLASS ASSAILS THE PRESIDENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, April 15.—The Mellon controversy was raised anew in the senate this afternoon when Senator Carter Glass, Democrat, Virginia, a former secretary of the treasury, severely rebuked President Coolidge for an "unprecedented assault upon the integrity of the senate."

Glass charged that the president, in his message, defending Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, had described the "exposure of wrong doing and the driving of criminals from office as lawless government."

Fire Near Manorville.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Wading River, N. Y., April 15.—Fire in the scrub oaks between here and Manorville was burning today, covering an area a half mile square. Boy Scouts camping near Manorville and residents of the town made no attempt to control the flames as they raged in a deserted section containing nothing but brush wood.

Whitaker-Law.

Theodore Roosevelt Whitaker and Elizabeth Marie Law, both of Mt. Marion, were married Saturday evening, April 12th, at the Lutheran parsonage, in Saugerties, by the Rev. W. F. Hersh. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Law. The groom is a son of the late David Whitaker and formerly resided on Market street, Saugerties.

Lockett-Pogue.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at high noon Thursday, April 10, at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Hobart, when Miss Eleanor Pogue, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pogue, became the bride of the Rev. Oscar H Lockett of Wawarsing. The church was prettily decorated with ferns, evergreens and daffodils. Shortly before noon Mrs. M. O Landon of Delhi sang a solo from Lohengrin. Donald H. Lyon presided at the pipe organ. The bride was dressed in a beautiful white satin gown and wore a wedding veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. During the singing of the last verse of the solo the pastor, the Rev. R. J. Harrison, the groom, the Rev. Lockett, with his best man William Gay, took their places, as did the bridesmaids, Miss Lewis, dressed in gray, and Mrs. Gay, dressed in white, both carrying daffodils. Next came the maid of honor, Miss Fannie Pogue, sister of the bride, dressed in yellow georgette and carrying a bouquet of yellow and white tulips to match her dress, and hat of a deeper shade. The flower girl was Miss Isabelle Pogue, the little sister of the bride. She was dressed in white organdie trimmed with yellow and carried a basket of yellow and white flowers which she strewed in the path of the bride. The bride dressed in a beautiful white satin gown and wearing a veil, was accompanied by her father who gave her away. The ushers were George Pogue, Charles Lockett, Fred Nesbitt and Roy Hills. The double ring ceremony was used. After the service the wedding party and guests returned to the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Pogue where a three-course dinner was served to over 80 people.

Coolidge Hopeful.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 15.—President Coolidge is hopeful that the Dawes report will result in a solution of the reparations problem, he told callers at the White House today. The president does not believe the status of the American claim for the maintenance of the army of occupation on the Rhine will be affected by the fate of the report.

Trees in Yellowstone

Five-sixths of the area of the Yellowstone National park is forested, the trees being largely coniferous. Approximately three-fourths of the forests consist of ledge-pole pines. Other trees are white pine, Englemann spruce, silver fir, cedar and cottonwood; the quaking aspen grows in all parts of the park, furnishing food for elk, deer and beaver.

Woman Raises Turkeys

When ill health caused Miss Margaret Mahoney of Concord, Mass., to abandon her ambition for a medical career some years ago, she took to raising turkeys as a diversion. Now she has become a big shipper of the birds, has originated several kinds of turkey foods, and has written a book for the guidance of those who aspire to raise turkeys.

Sheep Came to U. S. Early

Some of the sheep which roam the ranges today are Mayflower descendants, for Wiltshires of large size and fine wool came to Plymouth, says Nature Magazine. The Dutch brought to New York long-legged sheep with coats of coarse wool, and the Swedish settlers of New Jersey came with rams and ewes to settle in the new land.

Speed

Can human beings travel at the rate of 1,000 miles an hour and live? The United States Army Recruiting News, in discussing this question, says that such a speed is mechanically possible, but the physiological element may make it impossible. Experiments on animals in France show that such speeds produce anaemia of the brain and hence insensibility and sometimes death. A well-known aviator who won a speed record said, in describing his sensations: "I went out cold as I turned the pylons"—that is, he became insensible for the fraction of a moment. Of course he recovered almost instantly. But with a higher speed he might not recover. What that speed is has not yet been ascertained.

Most Northern Section

The most northern part of the United States proper is 100 miles in Beltrami county, Minnesota, on the northwestern shore of the Lake of the Woods. This tract is completely separated from the state of Minnesota by the lake and cannot be reached by land without traveling over Canadian territory. It came into the possession of the United States through a geographical error in the treaty of Paris signed in 1783, the original surveyors believing that this territory was south of the forty-ninth parallel instead of north of it.

Mocking Bird

A doctor and his Irish coachman were driving past a duck pond when the coachman said: "Oi hate thim birds, sorr."

"Why should you hate the poor creatures, Pat?" asked the doctor. "I'm sure they never do you any harm."

"Sure, sorr, don't you hear thim mocking you? You niver pass thim but they call 'quack, quack, quack'!"

One on the Boss

"What does this mean, sir?" said the boss to the man coming in a half-hour late.

"It was on account of the awful fog this morning, sir," the fellow explained.

"Fog, fog!" expostulated the boss. "Why, what has the fog to do with it? You do not live across the bay."

"No, sir. I know I don't; but you do, and I thought you would be late."

Can Be Renewed

If a literary man digs into books that are old enough, he can find many ideas worthy of putting in new dress.

TRAVELING in HONDURAS

A Centenarian in Honduras.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

When revolutionary trouble threatened in Honduras recently, the United States sent a warship to the Atlantic, not the Pacific coast of the country, a fact which brings out strikingly the conformation of the Americas. For though Honduras has a coast line on both the oceans and though it, as well as the United States, is in North America, it is more than three times as far between the closest Pacific ports of the United States and Honduras as between their nearest Atlantic ports.

Just before North America trails off into the Isthmus of Panama it runs due east, forming a broad "shelf" on the map. This is the north coast of Honduras which faces directly the opening between Cuba and Mexico and the southern coast of Florida and Alabama beyond. Honduras is in reality a next-door-but-one neighbor to the United States. It is shorter from New Orleans to Honduras than from New Orleans to Savannah; and a ship sailing southward from Key West would reach Honduran territory long before a vessel of equal speed sailing north would reach Norfolk.

But in spite of its accessibility Honduras has been largely neglected by Americans save by traders in bananas. The contact with the country has been confined almost entirely to the coast lands on the Atlantic side, and beyond them Honduras has been in large part unknown to Americans.

There are two chief arteries of travel in Honduras—one from Amapala, on the south coast, to Tegucigalpa, the capital; and the other from Puerto Cortes, on the north or Atlantic coast, to the same place.

Starting from the United States, it will cost practically the same amount to reach Tegucigalpa by either port of entry; but the time taken and the inconveniences met with on the two roads are vastly different. To reach Amapala a steamer may be taken at San Francisco. The voyage, as a rule, occupies 22 days, not because this length of time is necessary to cover the distance, but because the boats are slow, carry cargo and stop for a few hours, or it may be for a few days, at ports in Mexico, Guatemala and Salvador. For the traveler who is in no hurry, this voyage is extremely interesting. One's ship may touch at Mazatlan, Acapulco and Salina Cruz, in Mexico; Ocos, Champerico and San Jose, in Guatemala; Acajutla, La Libertad and La Union, in Salvador.

By Automobile or Mule.

Until quite recently it has been necessary to continue the journey from Amapala by mules to Tegucigalpa, the capital, about ninety miles inland. But the trail that has served to connect the city with the outside world for centuries has latterly become a road and now one may be trundled to the capital, though somewhat roughly, by automobile. The modern power wagon, however, has not been able to shoulder out entirely either pack mules or ox carts, and the traveler may still see numerous bales and boxes of goods transported by these methods. It is a fair question whether it is not more satisfactory, indeed, for the unhurried traveler to go by muleback in the good old way that has been followed since the first Spaniards entered the land.

If such a choice is made a mozo or servant should also be hired. He is an absolute necessity to the stranger and is usually sent to you by the owner from whom you have hired the animals. The mozo practically arranges your day's journey; he packs and saddles your mules, shows the way, does any odd thing you wish while on the road, and may be depended on always to get you a house for the night, for, except in Amapala, Tegucigalpa, Puerto Cortes or the largest places, so-called hotels cannot be found.

As a rule, the night will be spent in a native house, sometimes little more than a hut, built of mud, thatched or roofed with tiles. One is apparently always welcome to the best the house affords; but a hammock as part of the traveler's outfit is a necessity.

The monetary system of the country should be studied immediately upon landing. The standard is silver and the rate of exchange is about two and one-half to one; in other words the Honduran dollar (peso or sol) is worth 40 cents gold. Funds should be taken from the States in gold coin only; this will pass everywhere and is eagerly sought for by the merchants. The paper money of the country is as good as the silver, but away from the large towns and cities it is hard to get small change for a bill; hence it is advisable always to have a good supply of silver to pay the charges met with here and there on the road.

Arrived in Tegucigalpa, one discovers that it is not necessary to carry a large outfit from the States. The city, with the adjacent town of Comayaguela, boasts a population of from 12,000 to 15,000 and has many good stores where almost all the ordinary things required on such a trip can be purchased.

If a long trip into the interior from Tegucigalpa is intended, a supply of canned food should be obtained in the city; but along a regular trail tortillas, beans, rice, some sort of meat coffee and a few other things can usually be obtained at small cost.

If one is to enter Honduras from the Atlantic or Caribbean side, Puerto Cortes, the principal northern port may be reached by any one of several fruit-line steamers running from New Orleans or Mobile. The mail boats from New Orleans take between five and six days to make the trip, as they call at various ports on the coast; the Mobile boats make the run in three and four days.

From Puerto Cortes a railroad runs to La Pimienta, which means another day, although the distance is less than 60 miles. There begins a five or six days' ride on mules over fairly hard trails, which are very bad in spots.

Land of Hills and Valleys.

Honduras is a country of hills and valleys; of rain and sunshine, of large and small rivers. A half dozen rivers may be crossed in one day and while they are usually narrow and shallow, a few hours' rain will turn them into roaring torrents, absolutely impassable. One may be held up for days by a stream that when previously crossed was less than three feet in depth. But given favorable conditions the Puerto Cortes journey may be said to be only one-half as long in time taken as the route via Amapala.

Honduras is on the whole not an unhealthful country. Along the rivers and on some parts of the coast fevers are to be expected at times, but are not so frequent in the interior at altitudes of 1,000 feet or more.

On the south slope of the country the rainy season extends from about the last of June to the first of November; on the north slope it begins earlier and lasts longer.

In time the country will be far better known than it at present seems to be, for it undoubtedly holds great mineral wealth among its natural resources.

Three Held For Grand Jury

Puzzin, Dixon and Wickham on Charge of Assaulting Charles DuBois—Bail Set at $500 Each.

In the matter of the People of the State of New York against Joseph Puzzin, Lawrence Dixon and Herbert Wickham, charged with assaulting Charles DuBois, a hearing was held before Police Justice Gardner at Saugerties Monday evening, and bail fixed for each defendant in the sum of $500. After the testimony on the part of the people had been submitted, the attorneys for the defendants waived examination to go to the grand jury and refused to make a statement before the police justice.

During the hearing a number of witnesses swore that all of the defendants were present at the time of the trouble but were uncertain, with one or two exceptions, as to who it was committed the actual assault, and during the cross-examination by Mr. Brinnier, one witness testified that Wickham, one of the defendants, had committed such assault. Mr. Brinnier requested her to point out Mr. Wickham if he was present in the court room. The witness thereupon designated Walter J. Miller, an attorney of Kingston, mistaking him for Mr. Wickham. There were a number of humorous incidents throughout the hearing.

At the conclusion of the people's case, Mr. Brinnier, on behalf of his clients, Wickham and Dixon, moved for their discharge, contending that no identity of his clients had been established and that under the information upon which the warrant was issued and the particular section of code of criminal procedure upon which it was based, that it was necessary to prove a substantial bodily injury and that the people had utterly failed to prove their case in a manner required by law. To this motion for discharge, Percy Decker, an attorney of Catskill, who appeared for the defendant, Puzzin, joined, but the police justice denied the motion, to which Mr. Brinnier took exception. The attorneys for the defendants then waived examination without putting in any testimony on behalf of their respective clients.

Much interest has been shown in this case as the trouble is alleged to have commenced on account of the strike situation.

Frank W. Brooks of Kingston appeared for the People; Percy Decker of Catskill as attorney for Joseph Puzzin, and Corporation Counsel Grant M. Brinnier, attorney for the other defendants, Dixon and Wickham.

Milk Dealers to Meet April 22

Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, has called on all of the dealers delivering milk in Kingston to meet with him at the city hall on Tuesday afternoon, April 22, at 2 o'clock. At that time Dr. Connelly will explain the provisions of the milk ordinance and what is expected of the dealers. There are twenty-eight retail milk dealers in the city. All of them will be asked to furnish the health officer with a list of producers from whom they obtain their milk.

Senate to Pass Bonus This Week

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 15.—Granted priority over tax reduction legislation, the soldiers' bonus bill was thrown into the senate hopper today with every indication that it would be passed before Saturday.

A poll of the upper chamber indicated there will not be more than 20 votes against the bill although a possible presidential veto still hangs in the offing.

The chief fight on the bill centers around the move of Democrats to throw out the paid up insurance provision and provide straight cash payments for the veterans. Republicans have opposed the cash payment feeling that President Coolidge would be quicker to veto this plan than the insurance plan.

Brooklyn Caseys Here on Sunday

Another fast game is to be staged at the Kingston Fair Grounds next Sunday afternoon when the Sheridan Caseys of Brooklyn will be entertained by the Kingston Colonials. It is expected that Bud Culloton will toss them over again for the locals. While the visitors are in Kingston they will be the guests of the Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus.

NO. 3 TRIUMPHS OVER NO. 2 AND ISSUE CHALLENGES

Monday afternoon at McVey's Field, Public School No. 3 defeated the fast nine of No. 2 school by the score of 11-8. It was a good game. Fitzgerald of No. 3 pitched a fine game having 11 strike outs to his credit. No. 3 challenges Schools 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, games to be played at McVey's field for Schools 5 and 6, while numbers 7 and 8 will be played at the Athletic Field. Communicate with the manager of number 3 or answer through Freeman. Some of Monday's players were: No. 3—Catcher, J. Houghtaling; pitcher, Fitzgerald; first base, Denton; second base, Alcon; short stop, Rosenzweig; third base, Misove; left field, McGrath; center field, Wood; right field, K. Houghtaling. No. 2—Catcher, Kreuger; pitcher, Raichle.

Score:

No. 2	0	0	1	3	0	1	3
No. 3	3	0	2	1	0	2	3

"Play Ball" in The Big Leagues

Giants To Open At Brooklyn In Fair Weather—Yankees Play At Boston.

Thousands of bereaved office boys will be called to the final obsequies over the unfortunate remains of as many grandmothers at or about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, simultaneously with the official opening of the major league basebal lseason.

The mortality among these aged relatives will be particularly noticeable in New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Boston, Washington, Detroit and Chicago but it is only a coincidence that the cities in question will play host to the inaugural games of the 1924 season. It is just the way of grandmothers and ball games in general.

Just for the sake of forewarning the victims of their calamitous end, it may be mentioned that the opening games have been arranged as follows:

National League.
Brooklyn at New York.
Boston at Philadelphia.
Chicago at St. Louis.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.

American League.
New York at Boston.
Philadelphia at Washington.
Cleveland at Detroit.
St. Louis at Chicago.

New York, April 15.—Smiling skies and a crowd slightly in excess of 48,000 persons are expected to greet the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers at the local opening of the National League season this afternoon at the Polo Grounds. It was indicated John McGraw would use Bill Ryan and Frank Snyder as his battery and that Wilbert Robinson would reply with Reuther and Deberry.

SHADE EASILY TRIMS SCHOELL IN BUFFALO

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Buffalo, April 15.—Outclassed by a fighter who can hit heavier blows, box better and step around just as fast as the Buffalo welter-weight, Frankie Schoell's vision of a title bout with Mickey Walker was blighted last night when Dave Shade demonstrated his superiority, through official decision in the main bout at the Queensbury A. C. last night.

Shade opened a wide cut under Schoell's right eye, slowed him down with heavy body attack, took Schoell's left in the face to demonstrate its lack of punch and generally mussed up Frankie from the belt line to the eyes. Shade forced the fight all the way. He won every round but one. Schoell's blows seemed harmless. Shade weighed 150¾ and Schoell one pound lighter. It was the worst licking of Schoell's career.

Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, weighing 159 knocked out Pat Walsh of New York in the second round. It was a poor match, Walsh weighing 173 pounds.

Rain May Prevent Game.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, April 15.—Overcast skies this morning carried a threat that the 1924 baseball season's opening game between the Phillies and Boston Braves may have to be postponed. "Rain this afternoon" was the weather bureau's prediction. In in the event the game is played, Mayor Kendrick will throw out the first ball. Ring Henline, of the Phillies, and Barnes and O'Neil of Boston, will be opposing batteries.

Cool For Detroit Game.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Detroit, April 15.—Cloudy and cool weather greeted the Tigers and Indians today in the opening encounter of the season. Prospects were that attendance records would be shattered, 45,000 being predicted by some. Cobb was expected to choose either Whitehill or Dauss to hurl for the Tigers and Speaker was said to favor Shaute.

S. H. S. Team Admits It's Good

Saugerties High School is going to have one of the fastest, snappiest and liveliest baseball teams ever, when they cross bats with Rhinebeck High at Saugerties, May 3. So say those who have watched their practice the past few days.

The school is lucky in having many of last year's veterans back in the lineup. Included among these are: "Spook" Hackett, "Big Tote" Brice, "Doc" Donlon, "Steve" Erice, "Woolsey" Trenholm, "Jelly" Van Loan, "Myah" Hyman, "Munzy" Thornton and "Chief" Hoermance. It is said these men with added recruits will make any team along the Hudson valley do some hustling. Games are being booked with Catskill, Tannersville, Rhinebeck, Monticello, etc., and plans are being made to have a very successful season.

Firpo Soon on His Way Here

So Said W. McCarney Who Also Lets It Be Known That the Furious One Has Changed Mind About Retiring.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 15.—William McCarney, the skip-stop talker, was quoted today as declaring that he was in receipt of cabled assurance that Firpo the Furious, having thought better of his immoderate desire to dally with interests outside the ring, would sail for the United States within less than two weeks. According to McCarney, the message precluded any possibility that the man-eater would proceed with his announced intention to retire without further ado; consequently McCarney, as American representative of the boxer, said that he felt free to proceed with plans for an extensive exhibition tour.

The message, he said, stated that Firpo would sail from Buenos Aires April 24, on the steamship Southern Cross.

The last heard of friend Luis previously was that he had accompanied Hugh Gartland, another of his American exhorters, to Montevideo on the latter's trip north to this country. The journey, however, was abandoned in order that Firpo might return to the Argentine in order to arrange his affairs for another invasion of local box offices, according to McCarney's statement.

Gartland, he added, was proceeding to this country with Firpo's signed authorization to arrange any and all engagements subject to the Latin's approval.

One of these is as good as made, provided Firpo deigns to honor us with his presence once more. It will be against Harry Wills, the colored gent, under the auspices of the worthy Mr. Rickard. The latter has had the foresight to sign Wills to a contract for that particular attraction and probably will experience no extreme difficulty in making Firpo listen attentively to the suggestive rustle of the errant greenback calling its mate.

If the Latin survives this encounter he will be sent against Dempsey in a second attempt to catch the cash customers moving in the same general direction. If not he will be sent on his way rejoicing.

Meantime the general plan of McCarney, Gartland, et al, is to gather in all available currency through the medium of an exhibition tour which will be sustained as long as the out of town box offices are kept reasonably busy. Aside from the financial aspect, this transaction will mean less than nothing since only near beer opponents will be welcome.

Everything, perforce, is contingent upon the belief that Firpo has exercised the free born privilege of changing his inscrutible mind. Many professed to look for this when our hero had it announced some weeks ago that he intended to retire from the ring after the formality of pushing Al Reich roughly upon the chest as per schedule, April 5. Few, however, thought Luis would undergo such an immediate reaction as McCarney's announcement would seem to indicate.

This, if true, only goes to prove that no one is in Firpo's confidence with the possible exception of Firpo himself.

Last Night's Fights.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York—Tony Vaccarelli, New York, got the decision over Mickey Brown, New York, ten rounds; Ed Kelley, Bridgeport, Conn., got the decision over Art Campbell, New York, six rounds.
